Police
Find
$4,000
In Tools

A routine investigation by a city policeman Monday led to the recovery of close to $4,000 in stolen property — including two motorcycles — and resulted in the arrest of two 15-year-old youths.

Police were cataloguing the property early Tuesday and continuing the investigation. The list includes a bicycle, table saw, an electric drill, an electric hand saw and other power and hand tools.

IN COURT TODAY

The youths are to appear in juvenile court today charged with theft under and over $50 and breaking and entering.

Police said some of the articles were stolen as long as a month ago.

A tool kit and electric drill taken from the tool shed at Kwanan Senior Citizens' Village were among the items identified.

It all started when Const. William Harkin was sent out on a complaint about a tool theft from 1131 Finlayson.

After doing some checking the policeman called in city juvenile officer Thomas Smith. Permission was obtained to search a city home where some of the property was recovered, including two motorcycles. Other stolen property was recovered when a second house was searched.

Two Saanich youth detail officers, Harry Adams and Bill Stephenson, were called in when it was learned some of the property was taken from the Saanich area.

A police spokesman said early today the list of the recovered property was not yet complete.

Official
Jailed

COURTENAY — John Auld Findlay, a superintendent with the Indian Affairs department at Alert Bay for the past 10 years, was sentenced last Friday to nine months in jail, it was learned Monday.

Police said Findlay, who has been with the Indian Affairs department for 25 years, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to several theft charges, one involving federal government property and the others involving Indian band funds.

Resignation, Some Relief
Greet British Surcharge

OTTAWA (CP) — The imposition of British import surcharges, hitting about one-third of Canada's exports to Britain, have been accepted here with resignation and some relief.

Government officials were resigned to the fact that such a move was inevitable. They were relieved that it wasn't more drastic for Canada.

TEMPORARY

The 15-per-cent surcharge on manufactured and semi-manufactured goods is a temporary measure and will apply to imports from all countries. Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Monday that Prime Minister Wilson of Britain assured him that the surcharges "will be reduced as soon as the balance of payments situation per-

Sudan President
Seizes All Power

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan seized dictatorial powers Monday night amidst bloody rioting and the threat of a general civilian insurrection.

Speaking over Sudan radio, the ruler of Africa's largest nation announced he had dissolved the 12-man cabinet and the 6-member military junta which had ruled since 1958.

The general said he was retaining "for the time being all constitutional powers to personally supervise the establishment of a situation that would please the people."

Eleven people were reported dead and more than 120 wounded in street riots with anti-American overtones which erupted Thursday in the Sudanese capital of Khartoum. Monday they spread to the cities of Omdurman, Kassala,

Abboud

Port Sudan, Obayad and Atbara.

Travelers arriving here from Khartoum said the U.S. information service library there had been attacked Saturday.

Rampaging students were quoted as saying, "we consider the United States is the cause of all our ills. Sudan looks today very much like an American colony."

GENERAL STRIKE

Abboud's resignation was flatly demanded by the National Democratic Front, which declared a general insurrection. It is composed of former political parties outlawed after Abboud seized power in a coup d'etat Nov. 17, 1958.

"More dangerous fronts" were threatened by the front unless the president met its demands. Khartoum was reported in the grip of a "largely successful" general strike by government workers, farmers, railway men and doctors not on emergency call.

Diplomatic reports said the riots were caused by government repression of a separatist movement in the predominantly Negro and Christian south of the country. The northern Sudan is predominantly Arab and Moslem.

CBC Under Fire Again

'FILTH, GARBAGE,
NONSENSE, NAZI'

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC came under fire in the Commons Monday over its controversial interview with a Nazi leader and for its programming policies in general.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker led the criticism during question period when he rapped the publicly-owned corporation for providing a forum for United States Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell on Sunday night's network show This Hour Has Seven Days.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) and H. A. Olson (BC — Medicine Hat) returned to the topic when an interim supply debate resumed and echoed Mr. Diefenbaker's call for a parliamentary committee to question CBC officials.

State Secretary Lamontagne, who reports to Parliament on broadcasting, once again turned down demands for a committee. He said President Alphonse Ouimet had already appeared before the public accounts committee and "if in addition the CBC were asked to appear before a parliamentary committee this in my view might completely paralyze the corporation in its work, which would most certainly be undesirable."

'Cavalier Disregard'

Mr. Olson charged that the CBC showed a "cavalier disregard" for protests about programming and wondered why officials or the government were afraid of a committee.

There was sprinkled desk-tumping when he said the CBC had caused greater divisions between French- and English-Canadians by "repetitious attention" to extremist viewpoints.

During the question period the government was peppered with questions about three items in Sunday night's "Seven Days" show and Quebec provin-

Racism Set Back?

Deane Gundlock (PC — Lethbridge) said the CBC in some cases "almost flagrantly disregarded public opinion."

Stanley Knowles (NDP — Winnipeg North Centre) said someone should act as the devil's advocate and proceeded to praise the CBC for doing a good job generally. He said the Rockwell interview may well have set back the cause of racism and anti-semitism rather than advancing it.

Gene Rheasme (PC — Northwest Territories) said some persons believe the corporation was the "darling of the Liberal party" dedicated not only to spreading "pornography and perversion but also liberalism." He asked whether the doubling of President Ouimet's salary was an attempt to ensure the CBC would be dedicated to the task of keeping the Liberal party in power.

Mr. Rheasme criticized the CBC for planning a $68,000 office building in Montreal and a $45,000,000 building in Toronto while "hundreds and thousands of Canadians" were still unable to receive CBC television. He was not convinced CBC personnel "should be allowed to hatch perversion in air - conditioned comfort" while so many Canadians were out of reach of TV.

The "filth, garbage and nonsense" should end on the CBC and more money go into extending transmission facilities. He said many areas of the north could receive Moscow Radio more clearly than the CBC, and it provided a "good, impartial coverage" of Canadian news.

St. Vincent de Paul

'Despicable' Pen
Must Disappear

MONTREAL (CP) — Justice Minister Guy Favreau said Monday night that "really despicable" conditions exist in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary but all prisoners will be transferred out of the maximum-security institution within two years.

"It is quite clear that St. Vincent de Paul must be demolished and disappear as quickly as possible as a maximum-security institution," he said.

Penitentiaries under construction at Cowansville, Que., and Ste. Anne des Plaines, Que., would replace the prison by December, 1968.

Mr. Favreau was addressing a press conference following a three-hour tour of St. Vincent de Paul with Work Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets, Allen MacLeod, commissioner of penitentiaries, and about 50 reporters.

The justice minister also said he intends to ask the government to establish a parliamentary committee to

'Misuse' of Network

Women Flay
Air 'Minority'

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is under fire in a strongly worded petition signed by prominent women who claim the CBC is spreading immoral propaganda.

The Declaration by Canadian Women, circulated among women's and church groups and door-to-door in some communities, aims "to end the domination of a minority who misuse the CBC to spread propaganda for perversion, pornography, free love, blasphemy, dope, violence and crime."

A CBC spokesman said Monday that the corporation is "concerned about the extreme and negative reaction by this 'group,'" but adds that no women's organization in Canada has endorsed the declaration.

The secretary of the movement attacking the Crown-owned corporation is Miss Ethel Gordon, chief supervisor of nursing counsellors in the feed division of the department of national health and welfare in Ottawa.

Signers include Senator Jesse D. Quirt of Quebec City; Ethel Wilson, minister without portfolio in the Alberta cabinet; Mrs. A. D. Keith of Winnipeg, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Canada; Cora T. Casselman, former MP for Edmonton East; Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton, Ont., former Canadian delegate to the United Nations and a former CBC director; Mrs. Ward Markle of Toronto, president of the Ontario section of the Catholic Women's League, and Mrs. G. C. V. Hewson of Toronto, president of the Ontario division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The declaration calls on Parliament to make the CBC "answerable to the Canadian people," but says it opposes censorship.

32-Year-Old Killing

Bones, Rusty Rifle
May Solve Murder

ALEXIS CREEK, B.C. (CP) — A tangle of human bones and the rusted remains of a rifle, found in a wooded valley near this Chilcotin cowtown, may close the books on a murder unsolved for 32 years.

The remains are believed those of Harry Seymour, an Indian who vanished after the gun - slaying of Mrs. Johnny Baptiste in the winter of 1932.

They have been brought back here and will be sent to the RCMP crime laboratory in Vancouver.

BULLET IN SKULL
There is a bullet hole through the skull.

Forestry worker Edward Quilt, who knew Seymour in 1932, stumbled across the bones and the gun about two weeks ago in Elkin Valley, some 50 miles west of Williams Lake and about 150 miles southeast of Prince George, B.C.

He identified the rusty rifle as an old single-shot .22-calibre weapon Seymour was known to have owned.

An RCMP spokesman here said Monday:

RECALLS SLAYING
"We're pretty sure it's a case of murder and suicide."

Bill Boughton, a game warden in the area at the time of the slaying and later a member of the British Columbia Provincial Police, said in an interview at Williams Lake:

"All we knew for sure is that there was a big drinking party going on when the woman was shot and killed."

BODY BROUGHT OUT
"An Indian named Buffalo Johnny Hance reported the killing at Hanceville."

Reaction Growing From Saanich Vote

By GARY OAKES

Saturday's Saanich byelection with its movie-style shock ending is over, but the reaction is still growing.

Radio executive Hugh Curtis was elected reeve by 122 votes over opponent Edward Lum, but not until a 300-vote error was discovered.

Mr. Lum was presumed the winner after returns from the 13 polls gave him an apparent 178-vote lead over Mr. Curtis.

Unprecedented

But returning officer Gordon Hayward discovered the unprecedented error in the Cloverdale poll and spent almost an hour recounting the ballots before announcing a change in the final returns.

Monday Mr. Hayward pointed out that no one had been declared winner Saturday night, but because of the original totals, the large crowd of interested people "assumed he won."

"It is a very unfortunate and serious error," he said, "but it was an honest one which was quickly rectified."

Major Sequel

A major sequel to the byelection is the recount being requested by Mr. Lum.

Mr. Lum said Monday he has instructed his solicitor to send a written request for a recount to the returning officer. Mr. Hayward expects the recount to be carried out "as soon as possible" after he receives the request.

Saturday's surprising turn of events overshadowed the easy victory of William Campbell, who was elected councillor over five other candidates.

Officially the candidate with the most votes is not declared winner until he receives written notification from the returning officer, and Mr. Hayward won't issue the notification until after the recount.

Mr. Lum said he doubted the recount would change anything, "but it will satisfy everyone involved that there is nothing wrong."

Help Clear Air

He said Saanich people are suspicious that there was "something not right about the election" and added that the 300-vote error is "hard to understand." Mr. Curtis agreed the recount will "help clear the air."

But Mr. Lum promised to run for councillor in the December municipal election and said if he wins he will consider resigning his seat next year to contest the reeveship again.

"I'll try for the reeveship after gaining some council experience," the motel owner and greenhouse operator said. In his first attempt at the reeveship last year, Mr. Lum lost to Reeve Stanley Murphy by 184 votes.

Will Run Again

Saturday's byelection resulted from Mr. Murphy's resignation and the subsequent resignation of Mr. Curtis as councillor to contest the reeveship.

Meanwhile, all but two of the losing candidates say they will run again in the December election.

Third-place reeveship hopeful Lewis Haut said he hadn't decided whether to run again while fifth-place council candidate Robert Fleming "will run again, but probably not in December."

Recamping Needed

Mr. Fleming explained he hopes to run on a group slate rather than as an independent because "candidates should offer the voters a policy — not a personality."

He said Saturday's byelection pointed out the need for revamping the Saanich election system.

He suggested an independent firm should be brought in to conduct elections and compile the results with computers.

Outspoken

Mr. Fleming said almost everything except elections had been modernized.

Last-place council candidate E. H. Olson was the most outspoken about the polling error.

He said both the error and the appointment of Saanich Fire Chief Joe Sutherland were "absolutely disgraceful for a municipality that's supposed to have responsible government."

Laughing Stock

"They made Saanich the laughing stock of the whole province. It's pretty poor management, and there's no need for it."

Candidates Edward Ball, third, and Donald Mathison, fourth, expressed sympathy for Mr. Lum, while Mr. Mathison and second-place candidate Harry Shergold agreed the voters selected a qualified man in Mr. Campbell.

Down With Flags

TOKYO (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, wants to get rid of one of the Games' most solidly entrenched rituals—the victory ceremony.

He doesn't want national flags raised and anthems played after medal performances in the various sports because they only help to generate extreme nationalism, he told a press conference Saturday.

"In the first place, the national anthems are badly played," the Chicago hotel owner said. "They are also monotonous, and I think it would be better to play some sort of Olympic song."

Brundage, beginning another four-year term as head of the IOC, said extreme nationalism was affecting the spirit of the Games and should be discouraged in every way possible.

"There is one country which openly admits that its athletes are political agents," he said. "This is one thing that we cannot accept." He declined to name the country.

newsprint and there is no discrimination involved."

Both Mr. Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker expressed hope in the Commons Britain's balance of payments difficulties will soon be eliminated and the surcharges dropped.

"Mr. Wilson has told me how much he regrets that he has been necessary to impose charges on certain imports from the Commonwealth," said Mr. Pearson. "But Britain's non-discriminatory obligations and the urgency of the situation left him no alternative."

Bishop de Roo Makes Plea For Christian Involvement

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Three

Canadian prelates — an unprecedented number for a single day — spoke in Vatican ecumenical council debate Monday to stress the importance of Christian involvement in the world's problems.

Paul Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, Bishop Remi de Roo of Victoria, B.C., and auxiliary Bishop Antoine Hucault of St. Boniface, Man., joined in discussion of a text on the church in the modern world.

NO FOREIGN SOCIETY

Bishop de Roo said: "The Christian dare not consider himself as a member of a society foreign to or above the world, of a church conceding its imparting gifts reserved by God to her alone."

"The Christian must immerse himself in the world. He must share all its tensions, its sorrows, its deceptions and its victories. No dimension of the world may be foreign to the Christian. Everything that exists must, in some way, become his very flesh."

Bishop Hucault said that too great a stress on the divine aspects of the church makes it appear as an external authority willing to dictate answers to all problems.

The church in this world cannot solve all the problems of all men, he said, but it must search

Rescue Aftermath

All's Well in Cuba Then No More Word

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Walker, 136 Giles, whose son Fergus was taken to Havana, Cuba, after his rescue by a Russian ship, have received word of their son through the Canadian consulate in Havana.

Fergus and a companion, Sanford Smith of California, were taken to Cuba by a Soviet tanker after their ship was sunk in a collision.

Mr. Walker said he received a telegram from the Canadian consulate in Havana Saturday which said: "All's well. Letter follows," but he has not heard from his son since then.

GOVERNMENT GUESTS

"I would give him the money to come home if he needed it," said Mr. Walker, "but I don't even know where he is for sure."

The latest dispatch indicated the two men were "guests of the Cuban government" in a Havana hotel.

Your Good Health

Emphysema Not to Be Cured; Keep It from Getting Worse

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain emphysema. I gather it has something to do with smoking.—E. L.

Emphysema comes from a Greek word meaning inflation. The emphysema with which we are concerned here means that the lungs do not inflate and deflate properly.

Smoking greatly aggravates emphysema; what really starts it is not known. Anyone with emphysema should give up smoking completely. Emphysema isn't something you can cure; your goal is to prevent it from getting worse.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can you suggest other than quitting smoking for a person with emphysema? Is there any exercise? Any medicine?—W. L.
Yes, there are nearly a dozen things that can be done, but emphysema treatment can be complex and the best regimen must be individualized to suit each patient. The degree to which he is affected by the ailment makes a great deal of difference. How much difficulty does he have in getting his breath?

Simple breathing exercises can be helpful by encouraging the greatest possible use of the lungs and not leaving all the work for the power parts.

Positive pressure breathing equipment and oxygen are used to good effect in some cases. Sometimes using oxygen once or twice a day makes a noticeable difference.

A variety of medications are effective, too. Again, remember that this is not a matter of "shotgun medication." The right drug must be used for the particular type of difficulty.

VITAL PART

Among those frequently used are bronchial dilators; medications to loosen phlegm and other secretions in the lungs and respiratory passages and inhalants to relax spasm in the respiratory system if that is a significant part of the problem.

Yes, giving up smoking is a vitally important part of the treatment, and that is something you can and must do for yourself.

Dear Dr. Molner: The doctor says my husband has arteriosclerosis. Is this the same as atherosclerosis?—Mrs. L. B.

They are both forms of hardening of the arteries. Atherosclerosis usually refers to thickening of the inner lining of the small arteries as in parts of the heart, kidney and eye. Arteriosclerosis implies a thickening of the wall of the larger arteries, such as the aorta (main artery leading from the heart) and the large arteries of the legs.

The fatty deposits which accumulate in the lining (atherosclerosis) are more liable to obstruct circulation by causing formation of clots.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis of the spine and hips. I get relief from warm baths, and am thinking of buying a whirlpool device that I can use in my tub. Would it give longer-lasting relief?—Mrs. R. K.

A whirlpool bath is an accepted form of physiotherapy, and such devices are now available for home use. I would expect this to help you. It can be used as often as necessary for relief. Whether it will make relief longer lasting is hard to say, but probably yes.

U.S. Consul Held in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The American consul in rebel-held Stanleyville and four members of his staff are under house arrest, Radio Stanleyville said Monday.

The broadcast, monitored here, said all other foreigners in the provincial capital are free and in good health.

The American consul, Michael Hoyt, and his four employees are safe, the radio said. The Americans apparently were held for possible reprisals for government air attacks against rebel positions.

Communist-backed insurgents over-ran Stanleyville, capital of Orientale province, last Aug. 5. It is the capital of the so-called "People's Republic of the Congo."

Reports reaching here Monday said six Europeans, including two Belgian clergymen, were killed at Boende during eight weeks of rebel occupation.

Government troops recaptured Boende last Saturday after South African mercenary pilots attacked it with machine-gun and rocket fire.

Goldwater Raps LBJ 'Daddyism'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Barry Goldwater Monday night accused President Johnson of "political daddyism" after receiving the wildest ovation of his campaign for the presidency.

For 28 minutes more than 18,000 persons packed into Madison Square Garden cheered Goldwater.

The throng gave the Arizona senator a reception that had all the trimmings of a nuptial convention.

Goldwater is understood to have felt in the past that his chances of capturing New York's big bloc of electoral votes are scant.

"Daddyism" the philosophy of taking care of everybody, is the easy way to pitch for votes, he claimed.

But that's not for him, Goldwater said.

"Do you honestly think that after all these years in politics, that I don't know the easy way to get votes?" he asked.

"Well, I do."

But he said he wouldn't because "if I went around telling people what they wanted to hear, I'd sound like Lyndon Baines Johnson."

Goldwater brought his election campaign to the biggest city of the U.S. for his first and only try at its votes with a political rally.

Johnson Flails GOP Over War Risks

MACON, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson flailed away Monday at his Republican opponents, accusing them of "wild and impulsive statements" and "the most radical proposals ever made to the American people."

In a speech in Jacksonville, Fla., Johnson said the Republican party "has fallen into the hands of an extreme and narrow group."

"They would tear down the past and take unnecessary risks of war," Johnson added.

In election campaign speeches in Orlando, and Jacksonville, Fla., and in Augusta and Macon, Ga., Johnson hammered hard on the themes of peace, prosperity and national unity.

He said prosperity and the peace of the world are at stake in the U.S. presidential election Nov. 3.

Shipments Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—Shipments by Canadian manufacturers in August decreased in value by 1.3 per cent to an estimated $2,471,800,000 from the revised July estimate of $2,504,100,000, the bureau of statistics reported.

During Spanish Exercise

Nine U.S. Marines Killed

HUELVA, Spain (UPI)—Nine U.S. marines were killed and 13 others injured Monday when two U.S. Navy helicopters collided at the start of amphibious manoeuvres involving 50,000 U.S. and Spanish troops.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the helicopters, which had been flying at an altitude of 800 feet, crashed into each other as they were coming in for a landing.

One caught fire and burned. The other was demolished but did not catch fire.

BIGGEST IN PEACETIME

The collision came about two hours after the first landings of Operation Steel Pike One, described as the biggest amphibious operation ever staged in peacetime.

The crash started a fire in a woods near this southwestern Spanish port city. It was quickly brought under control.

Earlier another accident threatened to mar the manoeuvre. An observers' grandstand with about 25 persons on it collapsed just as Sen. Richard B. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, was climbing the grandstand steps. No one was injured.

U.S. WARSHIPS

The helicopter crash took place about six miles from the grandstand where about 300 correspondents and official observers were watching the manoeuvres.

Exercise Steel Pike One took 10 months of planning. It involves 80 U.S. and 14 Spanish warships.

Spaniards wrapped in blankets sat on their doorsteps in the chill dawn about 200 yards from the shoreline, watching the combat-ready marines storm ashore and scurry through their front yards.

Paper Employees Must Quit Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Tremblay said in the Commons Monday that his department is asking seven Americans now working for the three Toronto daily newspapers to leave Canada immediately.

He did not identify the seven employees, saying only his department decided against granting them landed immigrant status in light of the continuing printers' strike against the three papers.

Mr. Tremblay, replying to a question asked last week by Reid Scott (NDP-Toronto-Danforth) said the seven men will be deported to the United States if they refuse to leave Canada voluntarily.

There have been questions raised in the Commons previously about strikebreaking.

Two on Collision Course

Rhodesian Independence Clash Ahead

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—As the dispute between Britain and Rhodesia over independence for the white-ruled colony moves into its most critical phase yet, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith seem set on a collision course.

Wilson, if he chooses, could wield some powerful weapons to dissuade the Rhodesian government from seizing independence as it may think it is entitled to do when it has received its mandate from the rural Africans and the Rhodesian voters.

Among actions Britain could take, though nothing has yet been officially decided, are tough economic sanctions in Rhodesia, recognizing an African government-in-exile and freezing Rhodesian assets in the City of London.

At present the word in Whitehall is Lord Asquith's famous phrase—"wait and see."

Smith

COUNTER-SNUB

After a weekend of snub and counter-snob by the two governments, Smith agreed to meet Wilson to wrestle some solution from the deadlock. He chose, however, to defer the encounter until after the Nov. 5 referendum, which he confidently expects will give him the green light for independence on his terms.

The Wilson government is firmly opposed to independence on the present constitution, which theoretically provides for an African majority in 10 or 20 years but in practice entrenches white minority rule for many years ahead.

The new British prime minister lost no time in publicly stating Smith's plan to tap African opinion through the government — paid tribal chiefs would not be regarded as representative of the Negro majority.

The nationalists and most urban Africans — other than the small minority qualified to vote in the Nov. 5 referendum — have been excluded from Smith's consultations on independence.

Now the chiefs, predictably, have said "yes." The overwhelmingly white electorate of Rhodesia will undoubtedly return the same verdict Nov. 5.

With each day that passes, the threat of a unilateral declaration of independence — "UDI" as the white Rhodesians dub it — grows more menacing. The sacking of Rhodesia's 50-year-old army chief, Maj.-Gen. John Anderson, on the pretext of age was seen here as an obvious bid to weed out loyalist opposition to a possible coup.

ALREADY PLANNING

It could be seen as a plain indication Smith feels the possibility of a negotiated independence now is remote with a socialist government in Britain, and that he is already planning for unilateral action.

The suddenly urgent possibility of a unilateral declaration comes barely a month after

De Gaulle's Threat

LAST WEEK President de Gaulle publicly threatened to take his country out of the European Common Market if the other partner nations were not prepared to accept the overall farm policy France has proposed for the economic union.

In simple terms the French plan calls for the establishment of a free trade area within the Market for all agricultural products. Main opponent of the scheme is the Bonn government which sees such a move as providing vast new markets for France while working to the detriment of German farmers.

The agricultural ministers of Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are reported to be in a "melancholy" state of mind over President de Gaulle's ultimatum and equally disturbed at Germany's stubborn attitude.

The best hope at the moment is that some compromise solution can be found before December 14—the agreed deadline set by the ECM council for concluding the agreement.

However, President de Gaulle is not noted as a man of compromise and it may well be that if he cannot bully his economic partners into accepting his way, he will, as he has already stated, "cease to take part in further Market activities."

If France departs from the European Economic Community the possibility that it can continue on its set course is extremely doubtful. Certainly, its position as a major economic force in world affairs will be greatly weakened and the hopes its members now entertain of eventually building it into a political union of European states would have to be shelved for some considerable time.

On the other hand, the change this might bring could conceivably offer Great Britain its opportunity of entering the ECM, despite the fact that the new Labour government has pledged itself to keeping the country out of the European union.

If France quits the ECM, the remaining partner nations may find that they have no alternative but to invite Britain to join on her own terms if the organization is to stay alive.

Unquestionably the United Kingdom would provide the Common Market with some much-needed stability—a commodity which has been sadly lacking in the ECM since its formation.

If the partner nations are willing to change its terms of entry to allow Britain to enter without breaking its Commonwealth trade bonds, then Prime Minister Wilson will be justified in changing his mind. December 14 may tell the tale.

Precious Water

TO SOME MINDS it might seem that Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing was abrupt and blunt beyond need when he told the national northern development conference that Canadian water supplies are Canada's own and not to be regarded as part of a continental resource. On the other hand, perhaps it is just as well that a government spokesman has served early and firm warning of a sort that would impinge clearly on ears south of the border, that this country must place its own interests first and in doing so, look far into the future.

Mr. Laing's remarks had special reference to the proposal of the Ralph M. Parsons Company of Los Angeles that the great water supplies of the northwest—British Columbia, the Yukon and Alaska—be channeled south and east at a cost of many billions of dollars in a "North American Water and Power Alliance."

Canada, under this plan, supposedly would share many benefits with the agriculturally, industrially and residentially thirsty parts of the United States: prairie irrigation, power development, and the most startling concept, a transcontinental canal shipping system.

Perhaps it was this last feature as much as anything that prompted the B.C. government to label the scheme fantastic when it was first presented. But much as the suggested project challenges the imagination, it is being taken seriously in Washington.

Hence there is reason for Ottawa to look sharply and cautiously now at the long-term implications of this or any other plan that would divert to the United States vast quantities of water at present going to waste but needed—how knows how soon?—by a rapidly developing Canada.

One point that must be borne in mind from the start is that if this country should ever begin the export of water on large scale, even on terms that seem advantageous, it is almost inconceivable that despite its own growing wants it could ever cut off the supply to dependent American regions.

Saanich Voting

SOMEONE ADDED up a row of figures wrongly and so added last-minute piquancy to the Saanich reeveship byelection last Saturday. One can understand the chagrin of a candidate led astray for an hour only to be let down when the figures were reversed and defeat instead of victory was his portion.

In the clarified result Mr. Hugh Curtis was rewarded for his previous service as a councillor by winning the reeveship by a sufficient margin in a closely contested election. He should serve the people of Saanich well and justify the confidence thus placed in him.

So also should Mr. William Campbell, winning the council seat vacated by Mr. Curtis with comparative ease. His practical experience in the construction field will be of special value as Saanich undertakes the expanding public works programs which lie before it.

For Mr. Edward Lum compensation may come if as he suggests he bids for a council seat at the December municipal elections. This is the true route towards chief municipal office, and the near-success of his bid for the reeveship seems to assure that he will be elected.

From the standpoint of voting one feature of this byelection is not so satisfactory, only 27 per cent of those eligible taking the trouble to cast a ballot. By-elections seldom result in a large poll and this figure is not of unusual scale. Nevertheless when a change of reeve is at stake it might be thought more voters would be interested than turned out to be the case.

Apathy unfortunately is too prominent at all municipal elections, here as elsewhere, with citizens making light of a franchise they should prize. If they stood to lose their votes because they did not exercise their rights undoubtedly they would appreciate these better.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE been following the Olympic Games in Tokyo as best I could, not exactly with my heart in my mouth as 'twould be among the athletes concerned, but hoping for the best.

For Canada, Britain, the Commonwealth—in that order.

One thing that emerges from the Olympiad now over for another four years is its relation to the cold war. Academically, I mean, if one can dismiss for a moment the rival national images in conflict. These games are often indicted as creators of disunity rather than the amity they are supposed to promote, but disunion seems to have been at a discount this year.

I know that one boxer slipped from grace by punching the referee, which wasn't part of the protocol, but doubtless he was just momentarily annoyed by something or other. On the whole public relations, as it were, suffered no great setback.

But totting up the final medal score I see that the big two of the current ideological and nuclear dispute topped most of the prizes. In this respect they clung true to political form. The U.S. and the U.S.S.R. ran neck and neck with 90 and 86 medals respectively—gold, silver and bronze.

What might be called the third force of international persuasion, even if divided into ten separate and contesting divisions—the Commonwealth—came third with a total of 52 medals. If Canada, with but four medals was the lowliest of the white-skinned components of the force, this was an increase of 400 per cent over the previous Olympiad. On the same ratio we would win 16 medals next time, which, perhaps, is something to look forward to.

Britain too, I read, with 17 medals at Tokyo, is ahead by no small margin of its record over the last several Games. Putting results in the perspective of national image is not the whole story, of course. The athletes do strive for their country's pride and honor—"they are playing our anthem," cried one girl full of joyful tears as a victory was musically saluted—but there is the personal element which, in the final analysis, is predominant.

The individual effort to run, jump, swim, fence, throw, as never before. To outdo oneself as well as one's rivals in a supreme gambit to come in first—or at least second or third. To find reward for long years of dedicated training and, often, individual cost and sacrifice.

These games are compounded of heartache and deep anguish. The city is that for each winner there must be losers. And defeat comes sadly, so that one competitor, lips trembling to keep the tears back, for he was a male and males are deemed to be above such weakness, was heard to mutter "I put all that work into it and then I die at the finish."

He did not die, really, for he gave all he had and may live to run another day, but he was shattered, for himself and his country both. And he was far from alone in his reaction. Every loser felt the disappointment that hurts, and badly.

The statistics may be compiled in national order but the Olympiads are vastly human and personal. For every triumph there is tragedy. And some athletes must walk alone in their sorrow.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The Grand Trunk Railway opened for business on its Montreal-Toronto line, 104 years ago today—in 1860. The railway had been incorporated in 1853 to build this key rail link in eastern Canada. The railway was intended to serve all important cities in Quebec and Ontario and to link up with U.S. lines.

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1914—HMS Audacious was sunk but her crew was saved after the dreadnought struck a mine in the Irish Sea; Boer Rebellion spread from the Cape to the Orange River Colony where Heilbron was seized by General Christian De Wet and C. F. Beyers, South African war leaders.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared in a broadcast that Canada was at war to protect Christianity; Pope Pius XII, in his first encyclical, denounced absolute rule and governments which put themselves "in the place of the Almighty." The U.S. in a Senate vote, completed the first step in its revision of arms policies; France claimed clashes between German and French armies on the Western Front were increasing.

Washington Calling

Deeply Troubling Questions

By MARQUIS CHILDS

A LOT of hard facing up to the facts of life must come as soon as possible after the election. Time after time the capacity of the Communists has been underestimated—the Russian H-bomb, Sputnik, the newest achievement in space. This sombre roll call cannot be papered over with false optimism much longer.

The intelligence services functioned well on China. They not only pinpointed the atomic test site but they detected the buildup in intensive activity at the site. That made it possible for Secretary of State Dean Rusk to announce the forthcoming explosion well in advance, to the evident annoyance of the Red Chinese.

But to take any comfort in the likelihood that a delivery system is 10 years or more away is Operation Head-in-the-Sand. It overlooks the sneak methods the Chinese Communists can use if they should decide to start a nuclear war. A crude device can be concealed in the hold of a freighter and set off in a crowded harbor, and there are a dozen other ways to cloak the origin of an explosion of at least the magnitude of Hiroshima.

Fiction writers have shown the drama of this possibility. With the origin of the explosion obscure the machinery of retribution would move with electronic speed. This is the peril in the proliferation of nuclear powers—from the present five to, say, 10—underscored by President Johnson in his sober and carefully reasoned televised address.

The Red Chinese have been comparatively cautious in the past decade. They have not attacked Formosa and in recent years they have ceased their harassing fire on Quemoy and Matsu. They may use their nuclear potential as a diplomatic weapon.

But this cannot be guaranteed. Mao Tse-tung is reported to have said that China would be the only power to survive a nuclear war because of great depth in geography and population. While it cannot be documented, a statement is attributed to him that China could lose 200,000,000 lives and still emerge within two or three decades as the foremost power on a ruined planet.

The appalling fact is America's ignorance of what is actually happening inside a nation of 700,000,000 people. Part of this has been wishful self-deception.

Hong Kong, like Riga in Latvia in the '20s where correspondents predicted year after year the collapse of Soviet Russia, has been a centre for rumors spread by refugees. Hunger, famine, collapse, imminent revolt of the military—this has too often been the fare out of Hong Kong. At one point it appeared that American reporters would be admitted to China. The proposal floundered over the nature of Peking's demands for reciprocal admission of alleged reporters. There is excellent reporting out of China today, an outstanding example being the series by Robert Guillain of Le Monde, one of the most knowledgeable correspondents in the Far East, currently running in the Washington Post. But it is not reporting from the American viewpoint.

Those resisting any change in the non-recognition policy—even the "two Chinas" proposal—argue that recognition has meant little to the Western powers with missions in Peking. Diplomats live within a bamboo compound, live by not entirely true, and But this is not entirely true, and regardless of the practical gain that might come from recognition the policy of the past decade is today hopelessly outdated.

Even more deeply troubling questions must be answered as the United States pursues a confused nuclear policy with the right hand seeming not to know what the left hand is doing. Although official policy is opposed to proliferation of nuclear weapons, the department of defence approved the sale of tanker planes to France. Without these refueling planes the French could not deliver the atomic weapons they are creating to a target in the Soviet Union. The French nuclear potential is at best a second-class membership in the nuclear club and at worst a dangerous nuisance.

More serious is the American proposal for a multi-nation nuclear force. The French will have none of it. Britain's new prime minister, Harold Wilson, has declared against it. This leaves Germany, with possibly a reluctant Italy, as the only partner ready and willing.

Five nuclear powers in 1964, that is the reality; 10 in 1970 the probability. A Castro, a Nasser, a Sukarno with a nuclear weapon however crude—that is the nightmare ahead.

Atmosphere Changing

Thaw in the Balkans

By ERIC BOURNE

THE Sofia destination board on the motorcoach announces "Salonika-Athens." It is a Bulgarian coach. It recently made the inaugural run of a weekly service between here and the Greek capital.

It is the first step in restoration of communications between Communist Bulgaria and NATO Greece. Road, rail, air and telecommunications have been cut since the Second World War.

Resumption of these links is among the 12 agreements recently signed between the two governments for economic cooperation over a wide field. After Bulgaria undertook to pay half of the $45 million war reparations awarded against her to Greece.

Thus, 20 years of Balkan "cold war"—for the time being, at least—shelved. After Greece, Bulgaria is moving to improve contacts with her other southern neighbor, Turkey. Talks on easier traffic over the borders begin next month.

For 20 years Bulgaria has been the most satellite of Russia's satellites, the most responsive to every twist in Moscow's line, the most hostile to the West, and—since 1956—the most scared of "liberalization."

Now, at least, it seems to want to emerge a little from such isolation. It wants peace with its West-tied Balkan neighbors—for political as well as economic reasons. It has already made friends with heretic Yugoslavia.

"Four of the Balkan countries—Bulgaria, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Albania," said Communist leader Todor Zhivkov recently, "are being built as socialist states." He may not expect Turkey and Greece to follow suit. But it is still Soviet—and therefore Bulgarian—policy to work long-term to tempt them with ideas of a de-nuclearized Balkan "zone of peace."

Then there is the wish for trade—outside the Communist bloc generally. Exchanges with the West Europeans—especially the West Germans—are growing.

The Bulgarians have just bought a $4 million plastics plant in Britain. Purchase of a £1½ million cigarette-making factory is being negotiated.

They would like to do business with the U.S. too. Before the Communist regime, this country sold America a lot of tobacco. The U.S. still gets its Balkan leaf from Greece and Turkey. This year Bulgaria's tobacco crop is a bumper one. They would like to trade some to earn dollars for American agricultural surpluses and American industrial plant.

Last year the state department hinted that the present restrictive tariffs might be eased. Then came the trial here last December of the "American spy," Professor Khristov Georgiev—and relations fell into the ice-box. Now the Bulgarians would like "by-gones to be by-gones."

Bulgarian Communists are curious folk. They want American help in trade and technique. Yet they reject cultural contacts, student exchange, etc., and put a ban on Bulgarians using the legation's reading room here where they might find technical and scientific journals and books of immense value to developing young specialists here.

Bulgarians may peer through the windows at photographs from the U.S. But should they elude the watch and slip inside, the two policemen on the door are always waiting to escort them to headquarters to identify and explain themselves. It is a rather schizophrenic, because, at the same time the Bulgarians say they want better relations with the West.

There is some relaxation at home. Youth is less boxed around. The Twists, the Shifts and all that are no longer banned.

Dateline: Europe

Room to Manoeuvre

By OTTO VON HAMBURG

THE sudden resignation of Nikita Khrushchev from all the offices he held in the Soviet State and party has led to innumerable speculations. The official explanation is of course his health and age. Though there is certainly a grain of truth in this version, it is far from being satisfactory. We have also the continuous intrigues and violent personal ambitions within the small circle ruling Russia. But quite obviously beyond all these considerations stands the outstanding fact: for some time the Kremlin has been painting itself into a corner and doing so every day a little more.

During the last months this column has frequently drawn attention to the growing difficulties Khrushchev had to face. The near-fatal deadline is fast approaching. We are in October, only two months from the day on which the preparatory conference for the Communist summit should be called. To this hour, just a little over half the invited have replied. Those who accepted have done so with obvious misgivings, if we except the East Germans and Czechs.

At the same time there is increasing evidence that the front of European parties faithful to Moscow is beginning to collapse. The recent defection of the Netherlands Communists is certainly an ominous sign, which the Kremlin cannot overlook. Khrushchev engaged all his personal prestige—and thus also the reputation of the U.S.S.R.—in the enterprise with which he hoped to crush his Chinese rivals. The fact that what at first looked like a winning battle is rapidly turning into a rout is an eminent danger for Russia. A face once lost is seldom if ever regained.

For the old Communist leader it would have been practically impossible to withdraw from the positions he had taken. There was hence no choice if an attempt had to be made to save the standing of the country. Only a change in leading personnel could give a chance to save what is not already irretrievably lost.

The new men who have taken over what remains after the bankruptcy of Khrushchev's policy—Kosygin and Brezhnev—are former friends and potes of the old leader. While they faithfully followed his policies, they had never done so in a particularly emphatic manner. They hence have some areas for manoeuvring. Brezhnev, who is the more important of the two, has a reputation for being conciliatory and clever in making compromises. He is furthermore a typical technocrat, whose flexibility in ideological questions shows a different approach towards Marxist-Leninist teachings than the near-religious belief of the older generation. He will now have ample opportunity to demonstrate his qualities. It remains to be seen whether even with his obvious diplomatic ability Brezhnev will be able to extricate the Kremlin from its present near desperate position.

The democracies certainly need not regret the downgrading of Khrushchev. They have no reason either to cheer or to fear the new leaders. Today world affairs are in a stage where natural forces rather than human ones will determine Russia's policy. There are historical laws which man cannot violate without having sooner or later to pay the price.

Society's Rights

THE continued bleating by some people over what they weep was police "brutality" in subduing the loots, hooligans, beatniks and perhaps, who knows, even dangerous terrorists at Quebec City, raises a basic and increasingly disturbing question:

Just how offensive does an offender have to get before the law is justified in stepping in and straightening him up?

The way the emphasis has shifted since the royal visit, there seems to be more concern about whether the goons were "brutalized" than about those insults to the Queen.

It remains open to question and continuing debate whether or not there was actual police "brutality."

But there is no question that the Queen was insulted, grossly so—and in such sickening fashion, with such filthy epithets screamed in her direction that the public still doesn't know just how obscenely rotten it was, because the kind of gutter language used simply can't be reported.

The laws of decency and taste prevent the full story being told.

Yet, in the days since, there seems to have been such a strange manipulation of sentiment that the comfort, care and convenience of the hooligan students has become the prime concern.

Questions in and out of Parliament have been directed not so much at what the loots did to the Queen but what the police did to the loots.

There is no question of how the Separatists feel about it. Pierre Bourgault, leader of the RIN, has been in Hull, just across the Ottawa River from Parliament Hill, and publicly crowed.

"We won the second Battle of the Plains of Abraham."

And that just might be so—especially if the "bleeding hearts" manage to convince enough people that it was not the right of the decent people of Canada to have the Queen received at least with simple courtesy, but the right of the hooligans to be able to insult her without police interference that was violated.

This question of right has continued to trouble RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan, some of whose observations on the point were reported in Ottawa Offbeat earlier.

Enlarging on his theme, Commissioner McClellan, concerned about the increasing emphasis placed on the rights of those who break or even undermine the law by their cynical discounting of its rule, suggests there are other more important, or at least equal rights.

The right which bothers the commissioner is the "more basic one of protection of society from society's enemies."

With Mountie McClellan this is the "prior right," and he is frank to say that it is not being given the attention it warrants. In fact, this "protection of society from society's enemies," as he puts it, is something "our people are not getting in full measure these days."

Sobering words, these, from Canada's No. 1 policeman.

It seems the weepers, the exponents of "soft" police, courts, prisons and parole boards have been so gnawing away at this priority right of society that a depraved maniac with a lifetime record of sex crimes can be forgiven and forgotten long enough for him to murder four young boys eight months after being turned loose.

"I hold," says the commissioner, "that in a society which professes to live by rule of law, and every person has the right to expect he can walk the streets and lanes of our cities and countryside with a reasonable, expectation that he or she can do so without fear of violation of the person either by robbery, assault, rape, insult or obscenity. Such is not the case today."

It clearly wasn't the case in Quebec City, where the person of the Queen was "violated," as the commissioner expresses it, by both "insult and obscenity."

But say nothing about how the Queen might have felt or how millions of Canadians must have been humiliated by it—speak only of the "brutal" police and the way they savaged those innocent students engaged in nothing more serious than a harmless prank.

With the Classics

I am a part of all that I have met;

Yet all experience is an arch where-through

Gleams that untravelled world whose margin fades

For ever and forever when I move.

How dull it is to pause, to make an end,

To rust unrustled, not to shine in use.

As though to breathe were life.

City Hall Speculation

Fire to Give City A New Stadium?

The embers of Royal Athletic Park were barely cool Monday before city hall was speculating on the possibility of a new stadium in a new, centrally located site.

City manager Dennis Young, pointing out that the idea was still in the idea stage, said that it could be a Centennial project for Victoria.

Meanwhile, city officials were working with insurance adjusters to try to put a value on the grandstand which was destroyed in less than an hour Sunday afternoon.

ROADS PLUGGED

Roads in the vicinity of the park were plugged solid with traffic as thousands of Victorians turned out to see the tinder-dry, 30-year-old grandstand engulfed in flames.

At the height of the holocaust flames topped a huge standard containing banks of lights in a dazzling display of sparks.

Actual value of the old wooden grandstand was placed as low as $16,000 but replacement value is another thing.

Fortunately, said Mr. Young, the city's insurance policy was predicated upon replacement costs which could go as high as $100,000 or more.

Under the terms of the policy the city would be able to build in a new site. This led to speculation about a new stadium.

Added to the amount of money received from the insurance company, if a cash settlement is decided upon, would be close to $450,000 which will be available for a joint Greater Victoria Centennial project.

NOT SUITABLE

Asked if he thought Topaz Park, previously suggested as a joint project to replace Athletic Park, would be suitable, Mr. Young said he thought not.

Topaz Park was being developed as a multi-recreational facility and it would probably be better left that way. The city would do well to consider an entirely new location.

The matter probably will be considered at a meeting of the parks committee of city council next week.

Mr. Young said he already has launched technical studies so that the committee will have some data to work on next week.

Fire chief John Abbott said he and fire marshals investigating the blaze had "strong suspicions it might have been caused by children throwing firecrackers."

He said the blaze, fed by highly inflammable hose piled in storerooms below the grandstand, started in or near a waste bin into which used paper towels are thrown.

No physical evidence had been uncovered Monday night to pin the fire to firecrackers, but investigations were to continue today.

Children had been seen earlier playing in the area with fireworks, he said.

EQUIPMENT REMOVED

Firemen controlled the flames with a deluge of water from pumpers brought directly into the park infield.

Sports equipment owned by the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association had been removed from locker rooms under the stands the day before the fire.

Unaffected was a quantity of equipment left in dressing rooms by the Victoria United soccer team. The soccer players were the only ones using the dressing room.

FIRECRACKER FIRE

During the blaze firemen had to be called from the grandstand fire to douse a blaze caused by firecrackers.

A vacant house at Chambers and Esplanade was set ablaze but little damage was done.

Later the same evening a woman and two children fled from an Oak Bay house fire which started near a basement furnace.

FLAMES CONFINED

Mrs. Mary Smith, 2471 Beach Drive, left the building with two children while firemen put out the fire. Flames were confined to the basement but smoke damage helped to bring the estimated damage to about $1,500.

Young Greek Bishop Appeals His Ouster

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — The highest tribunal of the Greek Orthodox Church this weekend faced an appeal from a bishop who was indicted by his own congregation for alleged immoral conduct with a pretty 20-year-old girl named Mary.

The bizarre case was made public after a six-day secret trial by the holy synod ended last week in which Bishop Philippos of Drama was convicted of "scandalizing his believers" by his immoral conduct with the girl, both before and after her marriage to another man.

The bishop, at 45 one of the youngest Greeks to hold church office, was deposed from his seat as Metropolitan of Drama, in northern Greece, after 2,000 members of his congregation signed a memorandum of charges against him.

Bridge to Justice?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gert Larsen, 34, a stonemason seeking changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act, perched on a tower of Lions Gate bridge for more than three hours Monday in a dramatic bid for redress.

Larsen, who said he suffered a back injury while working four years ago but has been unable to obtain compensation, said he wants a change in the law so that decisions of the Workmen's Compensation Board can be appealed in court.

Larsen finally climbed down from the tower, 400 feet above Burrard Inlet separating Vancouver from the north shore, when Attorney-General Robert Bonner promised to look into the matter.

But Larsen threatened to repeat his bridge climb if he doesn't get his way. He was taken to hospital for observation.

Police and other rescuers made no attempt to bring Larsen down, other than talk to him, but Andy Marquis, news editor of CHAN-TV here, joined police Sgt. Jim Adam on a nearby tower to talk with Larsen.

Emigration Of Doctors 'Must Be Cut'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Drastic measures, including possible limiting of emigration, may be necessary to halt Canada's "brain drain" of doctors, says a leading medical specialist.

Dr. W. C. MacKenzie, president of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, said the outflow of physicians, particularly to the U.S., has brought increasingly frequent warnings from medical authorities throughout Canada.

Restricting of emigration of physicians might be justified on the grounds that since a doctor's long and expensive education is largely subsidized by taxpayers, the doctor owes it to society to stay and practice in his own country, he said.

Mr. Bonner, contacted in Ottawa, said Larsen's demand that a tribunal be set up to investigate compensation cases "would be looked into."

George Garrett, CKNW radio reporter, broadcast the attorney-general's message, which Larsen heard on a transistor radio he had taken with him to his lofty perch.

NDP Abandons Year-Long Bid To Upset Socreds

The New Democratic Party is going to drop its year-long bid to upset the election of two Social Credit MLAs in Vancouver-Burrard constituency last Sept. 30.

A petition asking the courts to void the election of Health Minister Eric Martin and party front benchers Bert Price is to be withdrawn in Supreme Court chambers in Vancouver Nov. 3. It was filed in Supreme Court here last Nov. 12.

Lawyer John Laxton, representing unsuccessful NDP candidate Tom Berger, said a full explanation would be given when the petition is formally withdrawn.

NAMES REMOVED

The petition claimed that names of numerous eligible voters were illegally struck from the voters list in Vancouver-Burrard prior to the election. The number of names dropped was alleged to have been sufficient to change the election results.

Mr. Martin topped the poll with 11,181 votes. Mr. Price was second with 10,612, followed by Mr. Berger with 10,345.

MORE PENDING

Another petition filed by four Socred supporters to upset the election of William Hartley, NDP member for Yale, who unseated Socred Irvine Corbett by six votes last September, is pending.

It alleges that non-residents voted in Yale constituency.

City Woman Turns Up In Cleveland

A Victoria woman who disappeared in a suburban Toronto cemetery and was the object of a police search, appeared in a Cleveland, Ohio, municipal court Monday on a vagrancy charge.

Lorraine Henry, 33, of 813 Orono, left Victoria three weeks ago with her fiancé, Leonard Hyde, also of Victoria. A few hours before they were to be married, Miss Henry became ill while they were motoring and they stopped by the graveyard. She told her fiancé she wanted to walk around for a few minutes and inspect the gravestones. He returned 10 minutes later but she had disappeared.

Miss Henry told the Cleveland court she arrived there with a man Thursday. He left her in a hotel and did not return.

A CN diesel locomotive... pulling power for the most efficient form of transportation on earth.

Here are just a few reasons why it's so good at moving goods:

(1) It's got the right of way all the way. (2) It's weatherproof.

Neither fog nor snow nor rain can stop it.

(3) Five men keep a 100-car train rolling.

(4) Steel wheels glide on steel rails with hardly more friction than ball bearings.

There are many more reasons. But these should explain why a diesel locomotive can pull a ton for just a few cents a mile.

True - not all of CN's 225,000 tons of shipping a day travels so inexpensively.

Cuba Needs 2,000,000 Homes

MIAMI (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro said Sunday night that Cuba's urgent housing shortage cannot be resolved before 1990 at the earliest. In a 30-minute speech to a construction congress in Havana, which was monitored here, the Cuban leader said if at least two million living units—in houses and apartments—can be built during the next 24 years, the island's needs will be met.

He quoted from a report submitted by the construction industry. It said: "There is a shortage of 650,000 living units for 3.5 million persons." Cuba's population is estimated at eight million.

"There are 1.3 million people who need bedrooms," Castro added.

"At least two million living units must be constructed to say that the problem is solved but it will be 1990 when the problem can be said to be solved."

He said the need for housing was causing other problems.

"We have frequently had problems relocating doctors because there's no place for them to live. We build a hospital and then we find that the doctors have no place to live."

U.K. Surcharge

Some Parts Of Industry Suffer More

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonial Business Editor

Britain's decision to place a surcharge of 15 per cent on many of its imports will affect some phases of B.C. industry more heavily than others.

For instance, rough lumber—that is, lumber which has not passed through the planer—will escape the new surcharge, but finished lumber will be taxed, as will all other finished or semi-finished products such as plywood.

In the pulp and paper industry it is the same. Newsprint, which is a finished product, will bear the tax but pulp in bulk form will escape.

PREFER TO PAY?
In the lumber industry there is speculation as to whether British importers will prefer to pay the extra tax and continue to receive the popular dressed lumber, or go back to the old system of buying their lumber from B.C. in its rough form.

It is not many years ago since nearly all shipments of lumber from B.C. to the British market were in rough form said a local exporter.

The style of B.C. exports was changed to meet competition in the British market from Scandinavian countries who were supplying lumber to exact dimensions.

As it costs more to ship rough lumber than finished lumber some exporters feel that U.K.

buyers will pay the extra 15 per cent rather than go back to the purchase of rough lumber for which processing facilities in Britain might no longer be adequate.

It should also be noted that the British surcharges are only temporary and will be removed as soon as the country's present balance of payments problem is rectified.

It is similar to the action taken in the Canadian financial crisis of 1961, when surcharges of between 5 and 15 per cent were imposed on imports. These were removed in stages, and few were in existence for more than a year.

If there was any attempt by Britain to make the surcharge permanent it would have to cancel its existing agreements with GATT and negotiate new tariffs with that international trading organization.

At worst, therefore, it seems that the effect on British Columbia's trade with Britain will be short-term in nature, and possibly not so serious as might at first glance be feared.

EARNINGS INCREASED
B.C. Forest earnings for the first nine months of 1964 were considerably higher than a year ago at $8,681,100 ($2.51 a share) compared with $6,232,100 ($1.81) in the corresponding period of 1963.

RIGHTS FOR GRAIN
Shareholders of Midland and Pacific Grain Corporation Ltd. are being offered warrants to purchase one new share for each share held at $2.50 a share. The payment of the $2.50 will also give rights to subscribe for an additional share at $3 between Jan. 1, 1965 and Aug. 31, 1965, or at $4 a share from Sept. 1, 1965 to Aug. 31, 1971 when the rights will expire.

The offering will be made next week to shareholders of record Oct. 30.

GOOD THIRD QUARTER
Consolidated net income of Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas for the first three quarters of 1964 was $9,726,000 (53 cents) against $8,677,000 (48 cents) in the corresponding period of 1963. Most of the increase was in the third quarter in which earnings rose to $3,540,000 (19 cents) from $2,709,000 (15 cents) a year ago.

NEW EFFORT

He added that it didn't represent a change in policy on Britain's part, but merely an accentuation of the difficulties B.C. is already encountering in the export field.

"The answer is for Canada, the U.S. and Britain to get together and make a new effort to bring down tariffs and increase mutual trade," the minister said.

SLIPPED DOWN

He said Britain had already slipped from B.C.'s No. 2 customer to No. 3, and predicted this decline would accelerate as the result of the 15-per-cent surcharge. Russia and Finland are increasing their lumber sales to the U.K.

Last year B.C. sold $41,800,000 worth of lumber to Britain. It sold $20,000,000 worth of pulp products and $23,000,000 worth of aluminum—all things which will be affected by the new tariff.

U.K. Hits Import Spending

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Labor government Monday announced an extra 15-per-cent surcharge on imports in a crash program to curb overseas spending and to increase British earnings.

The 15-per-cent levy, described as temporary, is on the landed value of all imports except food, industrial raw materials and raw tobacco. The landed value is the basic cost plus insurance and freight.

The new duty is on about $4,800,000,000 worth of manufactured goods imported annually, including about $200,000,000 shipped from Canada.

These additional emergency tariffs, which will increase the buying price for British comsumers, cover a huge assortment of goods, from automobiles to washing machines. Canadian products affected range from newsprint and plywood to leather, plastics and electric stoves.

All told, about one-third of Britain's total 1964 imports of about $14,500,000,000 will be hit by the higher rates.

Prime Minister Wilson's Labor government linked this emergency measure with marginal tax incentives to encourage more exports and thus seek to overcome a total deficit in international payments estimated to reach possibly an unprecedented $2,400,000,000 this year—about double what had been anticipated in earlier months.

Danes Rap Move

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—Denmark's foreign minister Per Haekkerup Monday sharply opposed the British Labor government's decision to impose a temporary 15 per cent surcharge on industrial imports.

He said the surcharge is not in agreement with the treaty of the European Free Trade Association, of which Britain and Denmark are members. Haekkerup said Denmark wants consultations as soon as possible in the EFTA permanent council in Geneva and at the next meeting of EFTA ministers Nov. 19-20.

A REPORT ON THE CANADIAN DOLLAR

The external value of the Canadian dollar is back in the news again. Since May of 1962 the Canadian dollar has been pegged at 92.5 cents in relation to the U.S. dollar, and has fluctuated generally around, and slightly above, that level. Recently, suggestions have been made to revalue the dollar on the premise that it may be pegged at too low a level.

The question of the appropriate value for the dollar is a vital one, and one that calls for careful analysis.

Fixed or floating dollar?

The inset chart shows the value of the U.S. dollar in Canadian funds during the past decade. Through most of this period, Canada operated with a flexible exchange rate, with the value of the dollar free to float in response to market factors. The advantage of a floating exchange rate is that many of the fluctuations in international transactions are absorbed by small changes in the exchange rate and thus not permitted to disturb the balance of payments. The weakness of a floating exchange rate, especially in a world where all major currencies are pegged in terms of U.S. dollars, is that a speculative run on the currency growing out of an adverse balance of payments can drive the external value of the currency far away from its equilibrium level. In effect, this is what happened to the Canadian dollar between early 1960 and early 1962. The speculation against the dollar could only be ended by moving to a fixed rate, and this had to be followed by resort to the International Monetary Fund and other international borrowing, and by a set of domestic austerity measures. The fundamental question is whether 92.5 cents was the appropriate peg on which to hang the value of the Canadian dollar.

In terms of "blackboard economics", the appropriate external value of a national currency is that rate which permits a balance in a nation's international transactions. In the long run, a nation can only pay for its imports of goods and services through similar exports. In the short run, however, a country can run either a surplus on its trade with the rest of the world, or, as in the case of Canada for most of the last 15 years, it can run quite substantial deficits in its international trade. Such deficits can continue to exist without pressure on the exchange rate if capital movements across the border are equivalent and compensating.

In fact, in the short run, the exchange rate is more subject to capital transactions than it is to current transactions. Briefly, a nation can live with a deficit on its current exchanges as long as foreign investors are prepared to put up an equivalent amount of capital.

Living with a deficit.

The analysis must go behind the mere fact of a deficit, or surplus, in trade. There are three aspects of Canada's current deficit which are relevant: the size of the deficit, the purpose for which it is incurred, and the means by which it is financed.

One major criterion that can be used to judge the appropriateness of the exchange value of the Canadian dollar is the composition and the trend of Canada's balance of international payments. Here, the patterns emerging since the late 1950's point to two broad conclusions. First, they leave no doubt that the floating exchange rate of the 1950's and its results were no longer appropriate to the changed economic climate following the 1955-56 boom. Second, they emphasize that the partly-induced and partly-forced rounds of devaluation in 1961 and 1962 were in line with our domestic economic requirements, and that their consequences have been a major contributing factor to the duration and to the amplitude of the present economic expansion.

From 1959 to 1963 the current account deficit in Canada's balance of international payments was reduced from $1.5 billion to roughly $500 million. The major contributing factors to this improvement were a swing of $900 million in the commodity trade balance (from a deficit of $422 million in 1959 to a surplus of $482 million in 1963); and a wiping out of the net tourist expenditure deficit (from slightly more than $200 million in 1959 to a position of approximate balance in 1963).

Interest on foreign debt rising.

The second aspect of the deficit, its purpose, is reflected in the recent trend in net interest and dividend payments which has been in the opposite direction (with the deficit rising from $444 million in 1959 to $614 million in 1963). This dividend and interest deficit could also be aggravated by an estimated $230 million to $300 million annually, if the existing undistributed profits on foreign direct investment were to be reinvested, and are drawn out in dividends instead.

The 1963 current account deficit of approximately $300 million reflected a combination of special circumstances all acting to reduce its size. These were (1) an extraordinary level of commodity exports in the latter part of the year, because of the special wheat sales to the Soviet Union, and (2) a still lingering impact on the volume of commodity imports stemming partly from 1962 austerity measures. The first quarter 1964 deficit (which approached an annual rate of $900 million) reflects the extent to which Canada's high propensity to import is still present, particularly under the impetus of a sharply rising level of capital expenditures. It is expected that the second quarter 1964 deficit will be more moderate. Now that the large wheat shipments to the Soviet Union have been completed, there is nothing in the immediate offing to fill the gap of some $50 million monthly which had been flowing into Canada's exchange coffers during the last crop year.

Deficit still too large.

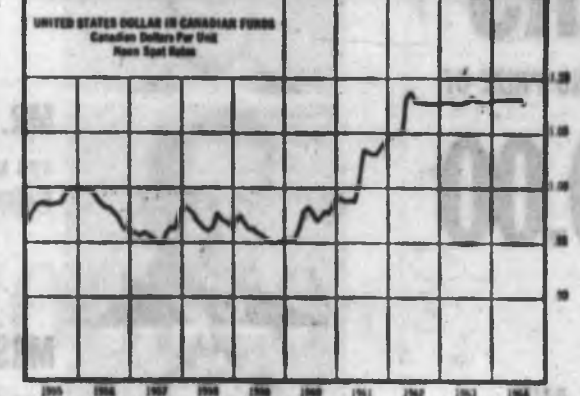

This leaves us in the position of having to cope with a basic current account deficit in the vicinity of some $500 million to $600 million annually. Although our official foreign exchange reserves are now about four times this prospective annual deficit, there can be no serious thought that these can be anything but a very temporary bolster; indeed, the appropriate level of reserves under the new fixed exchange rate has not been seriously tested. Canada's dependence on attracting sizable inflows of foreign capital continues, and it is the make-up of these capital imports that have a borrow on such a basis for many years, since the process is self-liquidating. This was Canada's case in the 1950's. Currently, however, the flow of direct investment into Canada is dwindling as investment opportunities elsewhere in the world become relatively more attractive. The result is that much of our deficit is now being financed by short term capital which, as the 1962 experience proves, can dry up very quickly. With a fixed exchange rate, such a drain would have to be met out of our foreign exchange reserves, and ultimately we might have to ask whether the value of our dollar is too high.

Devaluation revisited.

Over the intermediate term, Canada should seek to pay its interest and dividends on foreign indebtedness from current earnings arising out of a surplus on commodity trade. It should limit the overall deficit to that amount which can be safely covered by a direct capital inflow, an amount that may currently be some $300 million a year. If we cannot achieve these twin goals, then the current exchange rate is higher than it should be, and we may well have to re-examine this question within the next twelve months.

A still longer term goal is to prevent inflation from eroding the cost and competitive structure of Canadian industry, for in the final analysis the external value of a nation's currency will reflect its competitive position in world trade. The devaluation of the Canadian dollar was the price that we paid for letting costs get out of hand earlier. It is to be hoped that we do not repeat the mistake.

great deal to do with the exchange rate for the Canadian dollar.

The third and final factor that is relevant is the method by which the deficit is being financed. If the investment opportunities in a nation are such that they encourage a flow of direct long term capital into productive facilities, a nation can continue to

Woolco to Place Emphasis On Self-Service; Bargains

Wide-open store hours will greet shoppers when the Woolco department store opens Wednesday at the Town and Country Shopping Centre.

The store will be open 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. this week, then switch to 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. except Saturdays when it will open an hour earlier.

The emphasis is on self-service and bargains. "We will run specials all the time," says general manager J. R. Stookes.

He believes the store will offer lower prices on most goods than other city stores. "The self-serve aspect brings prices down."

The store covers 100,000 square feet on one floor, making it perhaps the biggest single-floor store on Vancouver Island.

At its largest point, it measures 535 feet by 339 feet. Most of the area isn't visible from the front because it runs behind existing shopping centre outlets.

ROOMINESS
Roominess, wide aisles and wall-to-wall visibility enabling shoppers to quickly locate what they want are distinguishing features.

Quality-brand merchandise of almost every kind will be offered, along with credit facilities.

A quick look at the signs showed garden supplies, stationery, paints, toys, housewares, car accessories, men's, women's and children's clothes, pets, tools, furniture, rugs, appliances, shoes, draperies and bedding.

A "new concept" in shopping will be offered in the simple, practical layout, says Mr. Stookes.

"It's what modern young families like. Mother can go one way and father can go the other. Later they can enjoy the cafeteria-style Red Grille."

The store is stocked with more than $1,500,000 worth of goods for opening.

The store bears little resemblance to its well-known parent, the Woolworth nickel-and-dime assortment stores.

Lights and decor are soft and piped music plays all the time.

While most of the store is self-serve, personal service is offered on more specialized goods.

Manager 16 Years In Firm

General manager of the Woolco department store at Town and Country Shopping Centre is J. R. Stookes, who has 16 years' experience with the F. W. Woolworth Company.

He started work for the company in 1948 and in 1955 became manager of Woolworth's in Noranda, Que.

He then moved to Sudbury, Ont., as general manager of the Woolco store and assumed a similar position in Windsor, Ont., in 1962.

He is married with two children.

DIVISIONAL MANAGERS

The three divisional managers are Stan Cooper, Al Squires and Claire Sockett.

Mr. Cooper was manager of the Woolworth store at Town and Country before it closed to make way for the Woolco expansion.

Married with two children, he has worked 27 years for the company and was previously divisional manager of Woolco in Calgary.

Mr. Squires, married with two children, was previously a divisional manager in the Hamilton, Ont., Woolco store. He has worked 16 years for the company.

Also married with two children, Mr. Sockett brings with him 19 years experience with Woolworth's, including two years with Woolco in Ontario.

Other shots on the schedule are orbital development flights of the Centaur and Titan IIIA space rockets; the TVROS IX weather satellite, and a radiation-sensing Explorer scientific satellite.

The first Mariner-Mars launching is set for Nov. 4. The second could be fired as early as two days later, depending on how well No. 1 fares.

300 New Jobs For Victorians

Work for 300 persons has been provided by the Woolco department store.

Advertising for staff and provision of interviewing space for Woolco personnel staff was handled by the National Employment Service.

More than 1,000 persons were screened down to 700 from whom the 300 were chosen in a three-day period.

The store was able to pick its personnel in "near-record time" because the "quality of selection by the NES was so high," says Annette Sawyer, personnel director at Woolco.

THERE FOR ALL
This kind of service is available for all employers, says George Bevis, NES manager.

Only four persons, all connected with management, were transferred from other Woolco stores.

Seventy-five per cent of the staff is full-time help, says J. R. Stookes, the store's general manager. Two shifts will be run.

High-Speed Ride Finishes in Court

An RCMP chase at speeds up to 100 miles an hour ended early Monday with the spectacular crash of a fleeing car, and had a sequel in Colwood magistrate's court the same day.

Berton Large, 3005 Glen Lake Road, pleaded guilty to careless driving during the incident. He was fined $200 by Magistrate Harold Alder who also suspended his driver's licence for a year.

Both Large and a passenger identified as Wieber Baanstra, of Shawnigan Lake, received only minor injuries when the speeding car flipped off the trans-Canada Highway while turning north on Grange.

The car, which snapped off a telephone pole, incurred an estimated $700 damage.

Sanchez Fire Department ambulance took the men to St. Joseph's Hospital where doctors treated Large for face cuts and his passenger for a sore arm.

Flag Election Possible

RED DEER (CP)—Robert N. Thompson, national Social Credit party leader, said Monday that Canada could yet be thrown into a spring federal election by the flag issue "if the obstructing tactics of the Conservative opposition are carried to extremes."

Mr. Thompson was being interviewed on an Ottawa report that the Commons flag committee had reached a majority agreement on a flag design of a single red maple leaf on a white background with red vertical borders.

"I hope the flag committee will come up with some kind of a majority report," Mr. Thompson said.

The Commons flag motion includes a built-in closure clause, he said, and the maximum amount of debate which would be possible is two speeches by each MP wishing to speak.

However, he added, other delaying tactics could be employed by Mr. Diefenbaker and "the thing could drag on for several months."

"Mr. Pearson said we'll have a flag by Christmas. He has left himself open to Mr. Diefenbaker, who has said 'Thou shalt not.'"

Workmen Control Wild Well

GULL LAKE, Sask. (CPI)—Partial control was reported Monday night by workmen at an oil well eight miles northwest of Gull Lake, Sask., that went out of control late Friday. Workmen were confident they could cap the well later Monday night. Gull Lake is 35 miles west of Swift Current.

Danger of explosion ended Sunday when the well began to spew a non-explosive mixture of oil and water. Previously the well had been throwing up natural gas at a rate of 2,000,000 cubic feet a day.

FIREFIGHTER READY

The blowout occurred in a field where a natural gas well exploded and caught fire a year ago. It was controlled by Paul (Red) Adair of Houston, Tex., famed wild oil well firefighter. Unless something unforeseen happens, Adair will not be brought in this time. Adair was standing by for a call if he were needed.

All the rigging and equipment have been removed and the mud-packing operation was in full gear. The mud mixture forces the gas back and, with the gas supply cut off, the well can be brought under control.

U.S. Probes Cambodia Death Claim

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military officials Monday investigated the possibility that Cambodian ground forces downed a U.S. Air Force plane last Saturday, killing eight Americans.

Another American was killed Monday when his fighter-bomber crashed during a mission against guerrillas. He was the 217th American to die in combat in the war.

The Cambodian government said in a communique Monday that Cambodian forces shot down a plane which violated its territory last Saturday. The communique renewed charges that American and South Vietnamese aircraft bombed and strafed two villages and that ground forces attacked another village.

LONDON — Prime Minister Harold Wilson Monday was labelled "out of date" — but it was his dress not his policies that came under criticism.

"Not all the men in Britain choose to be well dressed," Henry Sheridan said when he introduced his firm's latest style range.

"We are very conscious at the moment of the sartorial appearance of our new prime minister, Mr. Harold Wilson, who is doing a good job of work in presenting a new Britain to the world."

"What a tragedy it is that the personal image of the new prime minister is so out of date."

Sheridan said Wilson had appeared before television and newspaper cameras in "baggy, concealing trousers" outdated five years ago — while the British men's wear industry was "doing all it can to support him in his need for greater exports."

Sheridan offered to dress Wilson from head to toe to ensure he should be "with it."

"The criticism applies to the whole of the Labor party front bench," he added.

A reader of the 4,000,000 circulation Daily Express offered a comparison that Mr. Wilson probably liked even less. He said he had thought Mr. Khrushchev's trousers were the ugliest on the political scene. Then he saw Mr. Wilson's.

ATTLEBORO, Mass. — George Leonard, 18, was escorted to high school Monday by a lawyer and a deputy sheriff. The deputy sheriff carried a restraining order issued Saturday, prohibiting the principal from keeping George out of the classroom. George had been barred from the school since September because of his beetle hairdo.

SYDNEY, Australia — Russell Dixon, 12, a cancer victim who was given a trip to Hollywood in January, has died at his Sydney home. Russell had two ambitions and achieved both: "To go to Disneyland to meet Red Skelton." He called for his mother at 4 a.m. Sunday, asked for a kiss, and said: "I know I'm going, mum. But don't worry about me. It's better this way." Five hours later he was dead.

MONTREAL — Mr. Justice Adrien Meunier, Quebec Superior Court judge, was granted $10,000 bail Monday pending appeal of his conviction last week for perjury. Mr. Justice Meunier had been in jail since he was convicted and sentenced to two years in prison last Friday.

OTTAWA — A 70-year-old Vancouver man with 44 convictions was declared an habitual criminal Monday by the Supreme Court of Canada. Frank Wilson was refused leave by the court to appeal against his conviction in Vancouver as an habitual criminal. He was sentenced to preventive detention.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — A group of students at St. Andrews University has invited new Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev to accept nomination in the school's rectorial election. Nominations close Friday, and written permission must be received from any nominee. There has been no word from Mr. Brezhnev.

PERIGUEUX, France — Josephine Baker, American-born Negro music hall singer, was reported to be in hospital here with an undisclosed illness. Miss Baker, 58, has been living in retirement, caring for her 11 adopted children. She became a French citizen in 1958.

VANCOUVER — An American professor says he hopes his fellow countrymen have enough sense not to vote for Senator Barry Goldwater. Prof. Ivar Spector of the Far Eastern and Russian Institute at the University of Washington said Goldwater could hardly be expected to become a leader in strengthening the western world when he has failed to unify his own party.

MONACO, Monte Carlo — Prince Rainier of Monaco and Princess Grace, were reported to have sold their new luxury yacht to a Saudi Arabian Prince. The yacht, was completed in Holland last year at a cost of about $1,000,000.

TORONTO — Toronto architect Peter Caspari, 55, and British banker Walter Strauss, 57, were charged Monday on fraud counts involving $30,000. The charges concern a dummy corporation alleged to have been set up in 1964 between the builder and the owner of the Rideau Towers project, in Calgary.

The strike, which continued despite a national agreement reached Oct. 5, ended Sunday when workers gave what the United Auto Workers union termed "overwhelming approval" to the three-year pact.

Among the deadlocked plants was the vital Hydramatic division in Willow Run, where automatic transmissions for all GM cars are built.

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice-president and chief negotiator, charged that local union committees were persisting in "unreasonable demands which General Motors cannot accept without impairing its responsibility to operate an efficient business."

Seaton said production was stymied even in the eight assembly plants where local agreements had been reached.

Five Edmonton-area residents died in a two-car smash on Highway 16 about 40 miles west of Edmonton. There were three other traffic fatalities in Alberta. Six persons died on the highways in British Columbia, three in Saskatchewan and one in Manitoba. Manitoba also reported one drowning and one person killed in a fall.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times showed the total also included four drownings, two deaths by fire, three hunting fatalities and six miscellaneous deaths.

Quebec headed the list with 19 traffic fatalities, three persons dead in hunting accidents, a drowning, one death by fire and four persons asphyxiated.

Ontario had seven highway deaths, two drownings, one person dead in a fire and a boy killed in a fall.

Local Grievances Still Cripple General Motors

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corporation's hourly-rated employees began trickling back to work Monday after voting Sunday to end their walk-out after 31 days, but unsettled local-level grievances still crippled the U.S. auto industry giant.

Some workers were on the job in the Pontiac division at Pontiac, Mich., and the Buick division at Flint. But at least 28 bargaining units remained idle because of unresolved disputes, including 15 of GM's 23 assembly plants.

The strike, which continued despite a national agreement reached Oct. 5, ended Sunday when workers gave what the United Auto Workers union termed "overwhelming approval" to the three-year pact.

Among the deadlocked plants was the vital Hydramatic division in Willow Run, where au-

Kidding

Most embarrassed man in football Sunday was defensive end Jim Marshall of Minnesota Vikings, who scooped up a fumble (left) in National Football League game against San Francisco 49ers, sped for the end zone believing yelling teammates on sidelines were cheering him on. He galloped 60 yards unmolested, heaved the ball away as he crossed the goal line, then turned to find unsympathetic Bruce Bosley of 49ers on hand to congratulate him for having scored two points for San Francisco. Some of Tokyo's Pickpockets Were Official(s)

By RED SMITH

TOKYO (PNS)—For weeks, the busy arm of the law had been reaching into the narrow back streets and dark alleys of Tokyo dropping nets over pickpockets and tucking them away in boxes where they couldn't louse up Japan's shining hour in the sporting sun. As a service to Olympic visitors this was altogether praise-worthy, but perhaps it was all for the best that the fuzz was not present in force for the boxing finals in Korakuen Ice Palace.

Burglary most foul was perpetrated there, and no self-respecting cop would have watched it without taking action. When the Orient's first muscle dance wound up, Tokyo could have been stuck with a cooler full of wax dummies, pronounced "fight judges." Nobody could wish such a fate on a people as polite as the Japanese.

The only United States delegate in the finals got away with his gold medal, but not through any lack of purling stupidity among the officials assigned to his bout. Robbery was averted in his case only because one Argentinean judge, one Finn and one Japanese out-voted a nudnik from Fiji and Rumanian schmo who thought they were watching a trace. Those two thought Germany's Hans Huber should be the amateur heavyweight champion of the world because he outran Philadelphia's Joe Frazier by a margin so wide it made the loping marathon victory of Abebe Bikila look like a dead heat.

Billy Joe Frazier, aged 20, is a handsomely constructed slaughterhouse employee who had won all three of his preliminary bouts by knockouts, taking a lad from Uganda out in one round, disposing of a brave Australian in three, and dismantling a huge Russian in two. Herr Huber, drawing a bye in the first round, had reached the final by flattening an opponent from Pakistan and out-pointing an Italian. When he got in the ring with Frazier, witnesses wondered about that Pakistani for Herr Huber was clearly a man of peace.

STAND-UP RUNNER

He was a fine figure of a fugitive, a stand-up runner of 6-foot-3 and 204 pounds, which gave him three inches and ten pounds on the crouching, crowding American. His dark brown hair rolls back in neat, regular waves receding a bit at the temples now that he is thirty. He is a somewhat reformed rascal who just missed making Germany's wrestling team in 1960. Since then he has been driving a bus in Regensburg.

SHADES OF JOHANSSON

As America's sole surviving hope for a boxing championship, Frazier was obviously nervous and over-eager. He chased his quarry for three rounds, missing widely with hooks as Huber retreated under full throttle. It was a terrible match, as all matches are when only one party wishes to fight, and if the referee hadn't been a Russian he might have disqualified the fleeing Huber as Ingemar Johansson was cast out of the 1952 games for this same sin.

Huber wasn't disqualified. A judge named Ian Boamfa, from Rumania, and one named H. H. Common from Fiji called him the winner. What the crowd might have called the Messrs. Boamfa and Common will never be known because this was the last bout of the tournament and spectators raced for a breath of fresh air.

OFF THE RECORD

What they called other judges earlier in the evening is known, but can't be printed. Worst of some dreadful decisions was in the featherweight division where a brave and skillful Filipino named Tony Villaneuva jabbed the eyes out of Russia's Stanislav Stepashkin, punched his face off and was declared a loser.

R. H. Gitting, the Welsh referee who had twice called time to worry about a gash that opened alongside Villaneuva's eye and curled down to the cheekbone, enjoyed the fight so much he stood waiting for the decision. The referee doesn't vote in Olympic bouts, and the chances are he was as horrified at hooting thousands when Stepashkin got a 3-to-2 decision.

CHEERS NO HELP

At the announcement, Villaneuva buried his face in the sleeve of his dressing gown and bawled, with good reason. Countrymen carried him out while thousands cheered, but he was inconsolable.

That was the most horrible stinker, but not the only one. After Russia's Stepashkin was handed a gold medal he hadn't won, Russia's Vellikton Baranikov was cheated of one he had earned against a Polish lightweight named Josef Frudien. Nobody felt strongly about this, however, for this time the judges were not more incompetent than the fighters.

LET'S GO TAKAO!

By and large, it was a pretty first gold medal Nippon ever claimed in boxing. The crowd went wild. In one section of the stands fans broke out a big banner covered with two-foot-high fiddle music. In Japanese it probably said, "Let's Go, Mets."

Punch-and-Judy Act Scores

Victoria Maple Leafs' Punch-and-Judy act, it seems, has finally scored but how big a hit it has been isn't to be divulged until later today.

Coach Judy Pilous of the Maple Leafs has been in a trans-continental telephone hunt of Toronto-coach Punch Imbach since before the Western Hockey League schedule got underway. Punch isn't a man who answers his telephone too often—it may be bad news or it could be Judy seeking succor—but word last night was that the Maple Leafs are to get a defenceman.

Who he is should be announced today. What is known is that he doesn't belong to Toronto and that, all being well, he is to arrive here tomorrow afternoon.

That will be in time for Saturday night's Memorial Arena meeting with Portland Buckaroos. For tonight against Los Angeles Blades, the Maple Leafs will go with the same 14 could gain a share of the lead with Seattle Totems if they Ex-Cougars Gerry Goyer and Art Jones scored the goals as Don Head came up with his third shutout. He needed only to get in front of 19 shots and get the points this evening.

Maple Leafs, who have been tough since losing their first two games of the season in Los Angeles, could share a three-way tie for third place if they can upend the Blades again.

Buckaroos tightened matters up a bit on Sunday night by blanking the Totems, 2-0, before 6,988 Portland fans.

while the well-balanced Portland club fired 35 at Jim McLeod.

Kickers Take Lead In District League

Price and Smith lost, 3-2, to Victoria West and relinquished first-place to Hourigans Kickers in the Victoria and District Soccer League first-division Sunday.

Kickers moved up into the top spot by walking Gorge, 6-1. Brodies edged Navy, 2-1, and Canadian Scottish blanked Esquimalt, 4-0, in the other games played Sunday.

ONE EACH

Ranjit Dillon, Dick Crompton and Stu McFarlane scored to give Wests their victory. Barry Cosier and Maurice Bunyan answered for the clothiers.

Henry Vanderhorst banged in three goals to take over the first-division scoring lead with eight goals while sparking the Kickers to their victory. Jim Schultz added two goals and Tony Bourbail got a single. Larry Johnston scored the Gorge goal.

PENALTY WINS

Ted Smith scored one goal and Alan Glen fired a penalty shot later in the game to give Brodies their victory over Navy. Bob Marsden, also relying on a penalty shot, replied for the Tars.

John Rostron, Annis Fisher, Kees Roodbal and Oscar Valdal each scored once to hand Esquimalt their sixth straight loss. In second division games, Gorge got goals from Fisher and Trealy to defeat Dunlops, 2-0. Tommy Sampson fired two goals to lead Sidney Hotel to a 3-1 upset over University Vikings and Oak Bay Marina stopped Oak Bay, 4-1.

Shaw to Calgary?
Not So, Says Coach

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver football writer says that coach Bob Shaw may not return to Saskatchewan Roughriders next season because Shaw and general-manager Ken Preston are "at loggerheads" because of Bill Frank, suspended tackle of the B.C. Lions who was waived through the Canadian Football League.

KEPT SECRET

"A reliable and informed source" the report stated, said that Shaw wanted to claim the 260-pound Frank but that Preston had not informed his coach that Frank had been put on waivers.

It was further stated that Shaw may become coach and General-manager of the Calgary Stampeders next year and that the Calgary Club "has definitely contacted Shaw on the matter in a preliminary way."

In Regina, Shaw replied "How ridiculous" when informed of the story. He went on to state that Vancouver football writers were noted for their sensationalism and that the story was wrong in every instance.

"All you have to do is look cross-eyed in Vancouver and they've got you going to Edmonton, Calgary or some other place," he snorted.

DIDN'T MATTER

Preston denied that he had kept notice of Frank being placed on waivers from Shaw, added "that in any case the executive wouldn't have allowed the club to claim Frank under the circumstances."

Frank was suspended by the Lions after a public fight with teammate Pat Claridge which caused Dave Skrien to announce that Frank would never again play for his club. Subsequently, the Lions obtained waivers and have made a deal for Frank with Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Students Win

University of Victoria "A" team opened its Victoria Winter Polo League season Sunday sinking Navy, 9-4, at Royal Roads. Uvic "B" team upset the Victoria Olympians, 6-4, in the other Sunday game.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A goal with two minutes remaining gave Columbus a 1-0 victory over North Shore here Sunday and sole possession of first place in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

The goal came on a last desperate drive by Columbus. Outside-left George Zambrano hit the net from two yards out on a hard pass from right winger Barry Ehaksi.

The defeat was the fourth straight for North Shore, which has yet to score a goal this season.

The win gave Columbus eight points from five games and put them two points ahead of second-place Westminster Royals.

To Stop Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn woman, who says she holds two shares of stock in the Columbia Broadcasting System, Incorporated, filed suit Monday in federal court to bar the sale of the New York Yankees to CBS.

In the suit, Gloria Parker seeks a court order to initiate immediate proceedings to nullify the "imminent" sale of the baseball club.

The sale, in which CBS obtained 80 per cent of the club for $11,200,000 with an option to purchase the other 20 per cent, becomes effective Nov. 2.

Miss Parker charges "flagrant and obvious violation of the anti-trust laws."

Victoria Opener Promising For Island Hockey League

Victorians had their first peek at the newly-formed Vancouver Island Intermediate Hockey League last night at Memorial Arena, and a rousing, bound-to-please debut it was.

Saatchi Safeways took an early advantage and held it throughout to bomb Durman Cavaliers, 10-6, before about 200 fans.

On Saturday night in Port Alberni, the other two clubs got the league started with Luckies defeating Nanaimo, 5-3, before 550 fans.

The league will operate with four clubs while Comox and Powell River, likely entries for another season will play exhibition games throughout the season.

Referees handed out 40 minutes in penalties, two of them misconducts in the hard-fought match last night.

TAKE A SHOTS

Safeways pounded Cavalier goalkeeper with 12 shots in the first two periods, then drove another 19 past replacement Brian Calloway in the last 20 minutes.

Led by Don Wilson, a standout for the Victoria junior Cougars last season, the Saatchi team took a 6-0 lead in the first 32 minutes, and were ahead, 10-3, with only four minutes left.

FOUR TIMES

Wilson scored four goals while Bob Holmes got two for the winners and Del Brown, Gary Fletcher, Bill Carlow and Steve Merriman one each.

Whitely Ashworth scored three times for Dormans and Randy Ferby, Larry Brooks and Metro Kaplanchuk each scored once.

Bobby Still the Triggerman

(By United Press International)

Bobby Hull's goal-a-game pace has the Chicago Black Hawks convinced to-day that a simple thing like a paralyzed index finger can't keep a good man down.

The blond bombshell of the National Hockey League suffered a crippling injury to the goals for the first hat-trick of the season Sunday night to pace the Hawks to a 5-2 victory over the New York Rangers and give him five goals in five games.

Hull was the leading goal-scorer in the NHL last season with 44.

The 5-foot, 11-inch, 195-pound ace scored one goal in each period, and then Stan Mikita topped off the night with two late goals as the Hawks earned their third victory against one loss and one tie.

Jim Mikol and Rod Gilbert scored for the Rangers, who have one win, three losses and three ties to show for their seven games.

COACH EJECTED

Coach Red Sullivan was ejected from the game by referee Vern Bueffey for arguing that Hull was in the crease when Mikita scored his second goal. Bueffey said he exercised the rare privilege of ejecting a coach because "Sullivan used foul language and made threatening gestures."

Rookie Roger Crozier registered his second shutout of the season as the Detroit Red Wings beat the Boston Bruins 4-0 in the only other Sunday night NHL action. Alex Delvecchio scored two goals and Norm Ullman and Ron Murphy one each for the Red Wings.

HOLDING UP

It was Crozier's second shutout and with 11 goals against in six games he seems to be justifying coach Sid Abel's faith that he could take over from Terry Sawchuk in NHL fashion.

Results left four teams tied for first place with seven points but the Wings have played one more game than Montreal, Toronto and Chicago.

BOBBY HULL

Eastern Preview Fails to Titilate

MONTREAL—In a preview of their upcoming Eastern Football Conference semi-final, Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders put on a dreary display in a "nothing" game Sunday with Alouettes winning, 23-21, before 18,055 fans.

Two last-half touchdowns set up by their defence brought Alouettes from behind and handed Riders their third loss in a row.

Touchdowns by Dave Thelen on a 59-yard run, by Rick Blake on a four-yard jaunt and Bob O'Brien on a 59-yard run after intercepting a pass and converts by Moore gave Riders a 21-10 edge in the first half.

Cricket Veteran Passes

LONDON (Reuters) — Joseph Filliston, 102-year-old "father time of cricket," died in hospital following a road accident, it was announced here today.

A former professional cricketer with Staffordshire and Suffolk who had been umpiring for 51 seasons, Filliston was knocked down by a motor-scooter and had his right arm and leg fractured.

Filliston gave up professional cricket to umpire when he was 59. He announced his retirement Feb. 10 of this year — his 102nd birthday — "before I get too old."

Ends in Wrong End

End Forgets Compass

By United Press International

It wasn't the most important play of the day, nor did it happen in the most important game, but a 60-yard run by defensive end Jim Marshall of Minnesota Vikings was the highlight of Sunday's seven National Football League games.

Marshall grabbed the ball after Bill Klier had fumbled and happily raced 60 yards to score, tossing the ball jubilantly in the air as he crossed the goal line.

wrong with the play—Marshall had run the wrong way and instead of clinching six points for his team had scored two points for San Francisco 49ers.

It brought the score to 27-19 and could have been costly after the 49ers kicked a field goal to get to 22-27, but that was the way the game ended.

Elsewhere, there was plenty of action as last season's powerhouse—the champion Chicago Bears, the runner-up New York Giants and Green Bay's favored Packers — practically stumbled right out of title contention.

Packers saw their record at the halfway point go to 3-4 when Los Angeles' surprising Rams overcame a 17-0 deficit to carry on to a 27-17 win on three big plays.

Rookie Les Josephson ran 53 yards for one touchdown, rookie-end Bucky Pope collaborated with quarterback Roman Gabriel on a 55-yard scoring play and defensive back Bobby Smith ran 94 yards after a partially-blocked field-goal attempt.

AIR-MINDED

Washington Redskins upset the Bears, 27-20, as Sonny Jurgenson won a passing duel with Billy Wade. Jurgenson completed 16 of 31 passes for four touchdowns and Wade 33 of 57 throws for three touchdowns.

Defensive errors in the fourth quarter resulted in the Giants losing, 20-42, to Cleveland Browns, who took over the Eastern Division lead when Dallas Cowboys upset St. Louis Cardinals, 31-13.

Meanwhile, quarterback John Unitas picked apart a Detroit defence which had allowed only 71 points in six games and Baltimore Colts made it six in a row, winning easily, 34-0.

Residential Drive Lags Behind 1963

Contributions to the United Appeal so far this year are ahead of last year at this time in all divisions—except for the residential.

Collections to 5 p.m. Monday totalled $255,471 which is 62.3 per cent of the $410,000 objective.

UNDER HALF
"We have completed at least 50 per cent of the residential canvass and yet receipts are below 50 per cent of our quota in this division," said Graham E. McCall, co-chairman of the United Appeal.

"The success or failure of the drive really depends on the residential canvass. We depend more on this section than do many cities of comparable size in other parts of Canada."

"We are, nonetheless, cautiously optimistic that the goal will be reached," added the co-chairman.

To facilitate the making of contributions for those who have not yet been approached at business or at home, the United Appeal has arranged for downtown banks and department stores to accept donations.

Donations will be accepted at the main branches of each of the city's banks—the Bank of Montreal, Yates and Douglas; the Bank of Nova Scotia, Yates and Douglas; the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, 1022 Government; the Royal Bank of Canada, 1108 Government and the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Douglas and Fort.

T. Eaton Company Ltd., the Hudson's Bay Company and Woodward Department Stores Ltd., Mayfair will also accept contributions and issue official receipts.

Safety Tape Provided By Optimists

With nights drawing in since return to standard time, the Victoria Evening Optimist Club has renewed its program of supplying reflective tape for the safety of cyclists.

Colonist paper boys, who make their deliveries in the dark hours of the morning have all been supplied with the glowing, fluorescent tape, use of which is strongly recommended by Greater Victoria police forces.

Everyone Happy in Little College

The Little College of Uzi is still operating and staff and students are quite happy there, according to the parents of one of the college backers.

The school was started on the Balearic island of Ibiza in Spain by two former teachers of St. George's School in Vancouver, David K. Abbott and A. David Price, formerly of Victoria.

In a letter to the principal at St. George's Mr. Abbott said he arrived to find few textbooks, no blackboards, no classrooms and many students relegated to inferior rooms.

But the parents of Mr. Price, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Price of 2476

Central, said that letters from their son indicated that people were happy there.

The teachers are staying on and the students are happy, the letters say.

For some reason or other, when Mr. Abbott arrived he dialled everything about it," said Mr. Price.

Oyster Specialty

Oyster Stew is always a wonderful treat on a frosty night, or for a party dish... easy to make too, in this oyster-month-with-an-R. Just cook 1 pint fresh oysters (don't bother to drain them) in 1/2 cup melted butter until the oyster edges curl... don't overcook them. Then add 3 cups scalded milk and 1/2 cup light cream. Season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce.

Sweet Treat

Want to make hot waffles extra special? Add a few chopped pecans to the waffle batter before baking and serve them with hot buttered maple syrup. Warm 1/2 cup butter and 1 cup maple syrup together over low heat and stir to blend well. That's all there is to it! Delicious served à la mode too, with vanilla ice cream for a hot and cold combination.

Holiday Sundae

Another hot and cold favorite of ours, from now until Christmas, is a hot mince sundae. Just heat your favorite mince meat mixture, (the one you use for pies and tarts), thinning it down if necessary with a little orange juice. Add a dash of rum flavoring and you have the easiest ice cream topper to intrigue your guests in a long time.

Something Hot To Drink

Although we think it's hard to improve on good old-fashioned hot cocoa made with milk, here's a new variation the adults in the crowd will like. To make Croco Coffee, blend equal parts of freshly made hot coffee and cocoa. Float a mound of whipped cream on top and sprinkle with cinnamon... or try a cinnamon stick stirrer.

French Fare

French Onion Soup, a popular restaurant item now that winter is here, can be a family favorite too! For a quick version sauté 2 cups thinly sliced onions gently in butter until tender but not browned. Add 2 tins undiluted consommé soup, season and simmer for a few minutes. Smells wonderful and tastes good too!

Parmesan Topper

To crown that Onion Soup, in true French style, toast thick slices of French bread. Brush with melted butter, sprinkle with plenty of grated Parmesan cheese and broil until the cheese is melted and lightly browned. Float a crusty slice atop each bowl of soup just before serving.

Vandal Gang Hits Cemetery

Police are hunting for vandals, thought to be members of a Fairfield gang, who knocked over 18 headstones in Ross Bay Cemetery. Some of them were smashed.

Police were unable to catch the vandals. At one point they believed they had two of them come in the headlights of their prowler cars but the boys, if they were boys, escaped in the darkness.

"It's so hard to get your hands on these kids," says a cemetery attendant. "The cemetery covers such a big area and there are so many places to hide."

The damage to the graves occurred two weeks ago and provided a temporary setback to the city's long-range scheme for beautification and rehabilitation of the cemetery which lay neglected for so many years.

WORK GOES ON
Ald. Robert Baird, chairman of the city cemetery committee, said Monday that work would go ahead regardless of any temporary damage which might be caused by vandals.

"I am pleased with the progress which has already been made and we intend to go forward with the work. Mind you, this is no crash program. It is a careful, painstaking effort which will cover many years."

GANG LOOSE
Ald. Baird said that he had heard about the raid on the cemetery.

"There seems to be a gang running loose in the Fairfield area. We haven't been able to lay our hands on the culprit yet, but the day will come ..."

Aliens Gassed in Victoria

Three "undesirable aliens" went to the gas chamber here Monday night.

The three, fugitives from Hawaii, were gassed with carbon tetrachloride in the home of entomologist H. R. Anderson.

The three bean weevils had stowed away aboard a bean necklace brought from Hawaii by a returning vacationer.

The vacationer apparently was not aware the bugs were inside the necklace or that it is illegal to bring live insects into the country.

Federal government plant inspectors today were studying the bodies to determine their exact species.

Mr. Anderson said Monday they resemble the type of bug found in Mexican jumping beans. The larvae of the insect is laid on the outside of the bean and then burrows inside. The insect then develops inside the bean until it is mature and eats its way out of it.

Mr. Anderson said the only bugs allowed into this country are those that could not survive in this climate.

And the moral of this story might be: "The only good bug is a dead bug."

Frost Forecast

Jack Frost was expected to pay his first visit of the season to Victoria this morning as weather officials predicted that temperatures would drop to the freezing point overnight and could possibly go lower.

Robinson's Rats Rally Support Of Hungry Slugs

Robinson's rats, reeling from two weeks of poisoning, apparently are strengthening their forces for a concentrated attack on the Sidney widow's home.

The battle-scarred rodents must have called in more rats, the "old soldier" Mrs. Eleanor Robinson of 9545 Canora Road said Monday.

GOBBLE BAIT
An army of slugs have also joined forces with the rats in gobbling down pie-platesful of poison bait.

Mrs. Robinson isn't giving up yet but she's tiring from her three-week-old "war."

She said the rats were eating the poison steadily until four days ago when they slowed down "and I presumed the bait was taking effect."

FLATTER CLEAN
"But this morning I found the platter licked clean," Mrs. Robinson explained Monday. "I think they sent out an alarm for more recruits."

She also found "dozens of slugs lined up around the plate" and presumes they filled themselves with poison after the rats finished.

But now Mrs. Robinson is running out of the poison given her by the municipality, and can only hold out a day or so longer.

"BROUGHT SAWS"
The 62-year-old woman lives on welfare and can't afford to buy more poison.

Her problem began when rats gnawed through her back porch and ate a third of a box of apples.

Since then they've been chewing at the supporting timbers under the house and Mrs. Robinson says it "sounds like they've brought cross-cut saws."

Tug-of-War Postponed

The United Appeal tug-of-war, sponsored by the University of Victoria students, has been postponed until 12:30 p.m. Nov. 5.

The postponement was made out of courtesy for the women at City Hall, who have challenged the university girls to a tug-of-war.

The event will take place on Pandora Avenue Green, between Cook and Quadra Streets.

Lone Female Upsets Mail-Carrying Males

By IAN ARROL

A woman started delivering the mail Monday in Esquimalt and the male mail carriers immediately called an emergency executive meeting in protest.

"It's a man's job," said E.

J. (Jack) Bell, president of the Victoria branch, Federated Association of Letter Carriers.

"There was nothing in the advertisement I answered saying a letter carrier had to be a man," said Mrs. Norah Stackard, 3005 Ansell.

"There is nothing in the regulations to prevent a woman being hired," confirmed Allan M. Davies, Victoria postmaster.

Casual Employee

Mr. Davies pointed out, however, that Mrs. Stackard is listed as a "casual employee" and that she is on route for a regular carrier who is ill and expected to be away for only two or three days.

Asked about her work status, Mrs. Stackard said: "I take my exam Saturday. She then expects to be an officially certified letter carrier."

Meanwhile, the Ottawa headquarters of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers has been informed of the local situation by Mr. Bell.

"We have nothing against her personally," he said. "But there is lots of unemployment among the male population. Until such time as there aren't men to cover the jobs, the job should be done by men."

Both Mr. Bell and Mr. Davies said that there were a number of women letter carriers during the war years and for a short while after.

Letter Sent

"But the volume of mail has increased many times since then," said Mr. Bell. "It is a heavy job."

The executive of the letter carriers met Monday noon and a letter outlining the situation was sent to their national office.

Asked about next steps, Mr. Bell said: "The situation just developed today. It is a little early for national office to set policy. We will wait and see what the national office says."

"To the best of my knowledge there are no other women letter carriers in Canada," said Mr. Bell.

Mrs. Stackard's route Monday included sections of the Esquimalt Road, Old Esquimalt Road and Lampon.

Dogs No Hazard

Dogs were no hazard. She raised, trained and showed dogs in Calgary before coming to Vancouver in 1953. In Vancouver she engaged in animal midwifery.

Mrs. Stackard, who is 33, came to Victoria in 1962.

So far she has been issued only the official letter carrier's cap.

The post office doesn't have uniforms for women, she was told.

Flag Officer Takes Over

HMC Dockyard Monday morning.

He succeeds Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore who has been appointed flag officer of the Atlantic Coast with headquarters in Halifax.

Following the official ceremony Admiral and Mrs. Landymore left the naval base which had been their home for two years less four days. The roadway from the Admiral's house was lined with service and civilian personnel who gave an informal farewell to the couple.

INSPECTION
Admiral Stirling lost no time in commencing the duties of his new appointment.

After inspecting a guard of honor and the navy band from HMC Dockyard, he inspected two ships, the destroyer escort HMCS Saskatchewan and the ocean escort HMCS Argos.

The flags of both rear-admirals flew side by side from the top of Dockyard building 70 in which the offices are located.

FINAL ADDRESS

In his final address to the command Admiral Landymore said: "On relinquishing my command today, I look back on my two years service on this coast with pride and pleasure.

"No one has been better supported by the officers, men and civilian staff at any time than I have. Through this support and dedication to the naval service I believe we have made progress and improved the strength of the foundation on which our future stands.

"Goodbye, good luck and good hunting, if necessary."

For School Reading

By TED GASKELL

Catcher in the Rye, withdrawn recently from the Greater Victoria school's recommended list by trustees, is still being considered by the B.C. education department's library revision committee.

No one will say if the J. D. Salinger story will be rejected or recommended for the department's list of suitable titles.

The book was withdrawn from the Greater Victoria school's list after a parent complained that it was full of sex, perversion and pruritus.

But a school librarian would not agree that it is pornographic.

He called it an accurate portrayal of a 16-year-old boy who has a million and one questions to ask. Some answers he can get by direct questioning. Some answers he must discover for himself.

B. A. Barr of the department of education and committee chairman, said the book has been considered for inclusion on the list which the committee hopes to pass on to the department at the end of the year.

A book list is issued twice a month for librarians' guidance and they also use Wilson's High School Catalogue.

There is no banned list. Books on recommended lists are reviewed by a panel of experts and librarians are given authority to use their own judgment. There's little change of a bad or improper book reaching the school library shelves by accident, a librarian said.

The only way would be for a teacher to select a book before a review had appeared in the recommended lists and then he would undoubtedly read the book for himself. It isn't likely he would offer it to students if it proved to be unsuitable.

Skindiver Treated For Bends

An encounter with an octopus in the Albert Head area sent skindiver Francis McGuire, 24, of 116 Saturna, to the Royal Canadian Navy's recompression chamber after he lost his face mask and suffered bends Monday.

A naval spokesman said later McGuire had been removed from the chamber and was in good health. As a precautionary measure he was to be kept at the diving operations centre for 24 hours in case additional treatment was needed.

Oaklands PTA Plans Bazaar

Executive elected during the last meeting were: Mrs. R. S. Butt, president; Mrs. J. R. Pigeon, vice-president; Beryl Ince, secretary; and Mrs. D. E. Pite, treasurer.

Fleur-de-Maples A Loaded Horse

By KILEEN LEABOYD

Last week Mr. Pearson dropped another bomb by promising us a new "flag" by Christmas.

When he first proposed the "maple leaf pennant" the prime minister came in for such a deluge of protests from all over the country that he saw it would be politically adroit to let the matter lie dormant for awhile.

Now he is at it again. A large majority of the people in this Dominion were in a white hot rage. They said so in letters to their MPs, in letters to the editor in hundreds of papers, and in public opinion polls.

Canadians three to one, were against it. I think they still are.

Now he has put a committee to work and announced this dilly Christmas present.

This is a present as loaded as the Trojan horse. I don't think Canadians want it, and from the opposition in the country he must know we don't want it.

For one thing it is an awfully sorry looking excuse for a flag. As well as being as artistic as a cheap soap wrapper, it has all the vacancy of the Northwest Territories. All snowy and empty. The tin pennant on the Coach Lines buses has more flair.

I see that artist Mr. A. Y. Jackson has tried to make Mr. Pearson's label for Canada a little more acceptable. The waves have been switched from the sides, to the top and bottom. Where it was less than nothing before, now we can all get properly sea-sick.

Canadians clearly stated, and logically want, a flag with heraldic traditions and historical background. If we cannot have the Red Ensign, at the very least we want a flag with the Union Jack in its field.

And if you see the Red Ensign flying with the flags of other country your eye, if not your heart, immediately tells you that it blazes as brightly as any of them.

No one has a clear idea of what those leaves in Mr. Pearson's proposed flag mean, except that they are obviously a sop to those icily hospitable people in Quebec, who in turning their backs on our Queen, handed the rest of Canada the slap in the face that left no doubt as to how much they dislike us.

Indeed the French-Canadians must be laughing their heads off as they polish up their fleur-de-lis and watch us floundering around with our maple-de-leaves.

Instead of tearing down the flag we have honored, why doesn't Mr. Pearson put some effort into integrating Quebec with the rest of the country?

It cannot be an impossible task. It seems to have been quite painlessly done in Louisiana in the United States. French-American Roman Catholics there, have lived in harmony with other immigrants and early settlers, for a length of time which can be verified in history books.

This has not been the case in Quebec and a new flag will surely be no more effective than a bandage over an unclean wound.

Mr. Pearson could at least solve the issue of the flag, if not Quebec, by a referendum. After all this is a democracy. Isn't it?

Gyrettes Feted

Members and invited guests of Victoria and Camosun Gyrettes were entertained at a coffee-sherry party and fashion show in Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Jim Bramley, president of Victoria group, opened the affair. Conveners were Mrs. Gordon Carter, president of Camosun group, and Mrs. Bramley. Modelling fashions by Toojays were Thelma Ball, Ev Pantou, Lynn Middleton, Marge Cameron, Peggy Wright and Lois Robins.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl almost 16 and in love with a boy I've never met. We've been writing to each other for six months. Rollie is in the Navy. We started to correspond when my cousin, who is his bunk-mate, showed him my picture.

Please don't be like my mother and tell me I'm too young to be in love. I've read all about love and this is it.

Rollie and I agree on everything, right down to the brand of toothpaste we like best. The only thing we don't have in common is religion. We can solve this problem later.

Rollie gets his leave in a few months and he wants to come out here to make my acquaintance. We are thinking about getting married. I can finish school later. Please give me some encouragement. My mother goes wild when I bring up the subject.—WISHING AND HOPING.

Dear W. and H.: Sorry, Toots, but I'm not going to encourage a lousy, mail order romance built on toothpaste.

It's rough enough these days to make a marriage work when two people KNOW each other. What chance would a couple of pen-pals have? Stay in school and cool it.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago my wife and I told our friends we were planning a trip to London, Paris and Rome. Two weeks before our departure several friends came by the house to ask if we would do "a little shopping" for them. We had requests for French kid gloves, woolen yard goods, perfume and wrist watches. A neighbor asked for whiskey "if we should stop at Shannon." My cousin brought over a list which covered three countries.

My wife is the type who can't say "no." Now she must devote several days of her vacation to shopping for her friends.

Will you please say something in your column about this? Perhaps people who ask such favors aren't really aware that the customs allotment is $100 per person. Then there is the expense of excess weight on planes, not to mention the time and energy required to go hunt up the articles. Thank you.—ANNNOYED

Dear Annoyed: The bold and brazen—every ready to impose—will always be with us.

If your wife can't say "no" to these clods she gets no sympathy from me. Let her pay the excess weight, wear out her shoes and spend her vacation time shopping. Real friends don't ask such favors.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me how often the wife's father and mother should visit, and how long they should stay? My wife's parents lived in Washington State and have retired to Wyoming. We make our home in Florida.

They visit us for two weeks every six months. One visit is always at Christmas time. It seems to me that one visit a year, for about five or six days, should be just about right.

I'm sure others have this problem. Will you express your views?—HAD E. NUFF

Dear Had: Some in-laws shouldn't visit at all. Others would be welcome six months out of every year.

Since you feel your in-laws are over-doing it, why not discuss with your wife the possibility of inviting them—specifically for five or six days—at Christmas. Period. I see no reason for people to have guests often or for longer periods than they want them.

A highlight of the recent South Vancouver Island District Women's Institute workshop was the attendance of members of the Provincial W.I. Board.

Those present for the conference, held at Lake Hill W.I. Hall were Mrs. R. Partington, Past President of Francois Lake; Mrs. R. C. Palmer, President of Kelowna; Mrs. E. G. Woodward, Vice-President of Brentwood Bay; Directors Mrs. H. C. Ford of Tappen, Mrs. J. S. Scott of Robson, Mrs. G. Lund of Prince George, Mrs. W. Coats of Gabriola Island and Secretary-treasurer Miss P. Holden of Victoria. Other visitors included Mrs. C. M. Stewart, Mrs. W. M. Shepherd and Mrs. F. Johnson, all of the North Vancouver Island W.I. District Board.

Almost one hundred W.I. members and delegates were welcomed by Reeve Casey who brought greetings from his municipality to "one of the oldest women's organizations in the West."

The day was a happy occasion for Mrs. N. N. Grimmer and Mrs. H. Grimmer, both of Pender Island W.I., when Mrs. Palmer presented each lady with a life membership scroll and pin honoring long years of service. This is the highest award that any W.I. member can receive.

A signal honor is to be conferred on another W.I. member, Miss L. M. Savory, a beloved member of long standing who is to have a public school named for her.

Mrs. E. Robinson, President of the South Vancouver Island District W.I. Board, developed her theme of "don't just sit there" in a humorous and forthright manner. She pointed out that all Institutes had ability to produce programs from members ideas, as all W.I.'s have a great variety of people of all ages and nationalities.

Institute reports covering two minutes each showed the wide scope of activities with W.I.'s entering competitions and fairs, helping with USC work, mental health work, Sororium, adopting children in foreign lands, exchanging gifts and ideas with W.I.'s of other lands, sponsoring handicraft and other groups and many other projects, in addition to the special projects handled entirely by the Institutes.

Mrs. H. Grimmer, District Agricultural Convener spoke on noxious weeds. An excellent display of weeds was also evident.

Mrs. Emery, District Convener of United Nations had on display work done for United Nations Service Committee, took a collection for "Freedom from Hunger" campaign.

Mrs. Anderson, District Convener for Health and Welfare, gave a talk on "aging" as applied to our generation.

Mrs. Jones, District Convener of Home Economics undertook to point out what to look for in our packaged foods and had a very fine display demonstrating her talk.

Elizabeth Forbes gave a vivid word picture of Newfoundland.

Mrs. Partington spoke of the special W.I. projects, including Pennies for Friendship and the Lady Aberdeen Scholarship Fund.

Officers of the S.V.I. District Board elected for the coming year were Mrs. H. G. Scott, Pender Island, President; Mrs. A. Feather, Cedar, Vice-president; Directors: Miss V. Salis, South Salt Spring Island, Mrs. H. Hillard, Saltair, Mrs. J. Tatton, Sooke and North Sooke, and Sec.-Treasurer Miss M. McKeen, Pender Island.

The conference will be held at Brentwood. Hostess Institutes for the workshop were Lake Hill, Craigflower and Victoria and were responsible for the refreshments.

A REPORT TO THE FRIENDS of the ROYAL JUBILEE HOSPITAL

The Board of Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital wishes to categorically state that any closure of beds at the Hospital does not result from a lack of operating funds from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

A serious shortage of Registered Nurses, and other staff, has been, and still is, the basic cause of the hospital's inability to promptly cope with the heavy medical and surgical work load. Every effort has been made to attract qualified nurses to our hospital from across Canada and the United Kingdom, offering attractive salaries and working conditions. Even with the shortage of staff, the Royal Jubilee Hospital has completed the heaviest work load in its history as evidenced by the following statistics as taken from the records of the hospital.

In the past two years—with the opening of the New Wings—there has been an increase in the number of patient days handled of... 17%

VOLUME OF WORK

Period of January 1st to August 31st

| Year | Patient Days | Patients Admitted | Surgical Operations | X-ray Examinations | Laboratory Examinations |
|------|--------------|-------------------|---------------------|--------------------|-------------------------|
| 1962 | 106,508 | 9,480 | 4,419 | 14,315 | 190,567 |
| 1963 | 111,192 | 10,052 | 4,705 | 16,461 | 210,165 |
| 1964 | 124,547 | 10,667 | 5,316 | 20,690 | 238,695 |

The hospital has plans for the future development of facilities, including substantial additions to meet the growing needs of the community and the demands of modern medicine.

It is the policy of the Board of Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to open additional beds as soon as staff becomes available.

Glamorous Gowns and Furs Highlight Fashion Show

Luxurious furs and glamorous long-length evening gowns—so popular this season—combined to make a true "portrait in fashion" show at the Art Gallery on Monday.

Sponsored by the Women's Committee to the Gallery the affair featured a show in the afternoon and again in the evening. Mrs. C. Lum was general convener and Mrs. W. R. G. Whisman, tea convener. In charge of tickets was Mrs. R. H. Puck and Mrs. A. Reid looked after the bake sale.

Modelling the fashions from Gray's and furs by Seby were Mrs. Lum, Mrs. C. G. Opeiland, Mrs. J. A. Miller, Mrs. D. M. Hummel, Mrs. J. Di Castro, Mrs. J. M. Miller, Mrs. Puck, Mrs. R. Travis, Mrs. R. A. Hadfield, Mrs. Joan Fraser was fashion commentator.

This year's fashion news points to color and texture and double-knits are still at the top of the list of smart, easy-to-wear ensembles. Several of the looks shown featured a textured look including a handsome, three-piece suit in blue and green tones made to look like tweed.

Perfectly proportioned and tapered to fit the petite figure was the rich, full-bodied mohair top coat in the new tone on tone beige and finished with a bolstered collar in pearl mink. Another favorite in the number of coats modelled was the soft pink and black plaid travel coat, reminiscent of the 1930's with its full, almost fishtail back and full sleeves.

A luxurious Canadian mink stroller in royal pastel shade fashioned with a large cape collar and convertible sleeves, a large cuddly cape in Norwegian fox and a rich looking beaver trotter styled with a Norwegian fox collar which picked up the deep, natural tones of the coat, were only a few of the show stoppers modelled over lovely evening gowns and daytime wear.

Shower sophistication was the exquisite evening gown in vibrant jewel tones of royal blue chiffon and topped by a white, jasmine mink stole. Return of the evening skirt was seen in the black crepe model styled with, high, high slits to show a bit of knee.

Another show stopper was the black velvet redingote, very much in the picture this year. It was nipped, tucked and caught to emphasize the tiny waist of the wearer and the worn over a sparkling gold gown in the slim, ankle-length style.

FLAWLESS COMPLEXION INSTANTLY

As a professional lecturer on skin care I urge you to be constant, never retire at night without first removing your makeup and be thorough about it. Keep your skin well lubricated through out all of the 24 hours of every day and use only cosmetics of known quality and reputation. Your skin is like a delicate flower; it quickly shows neglect and just as quickly reflects care. But that does not mean you can't have a perfect complexion at once, without waiting. There is a new and occasionally better liquid makeup that actually performs almost unbelievable wonders without looking like makeup at all. It is made by the creators of the world renowned 2nd Debut, the famous face lotion that contains CEF 600, the scientifically recognized long-lasting fine and wrinkle reducer. 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup likewise contains CEF 600. It does help justify the skin while it imparts the most perfect, absolutely flawless complexion the face has ever presented. Lois Jenvey and 16:13 coho

King Fisherman

This is Last Week To Enter Contest

This is the last week to catch fish to enter in this year's edition of the Colonist King Fisherman Contest with closing time midnight Saturday.

Thirteen-year-old Lois Jenvey, fishing with her father Frank at Brentwood Sunday, caught a 16:13-pound coho to take over as the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association fisherman with the biggest coho of the year so far. She wins a gold button and stands to win a diamond in the button if she holds her spot, as well as a trophy for the club member catching the heaviest coho of the year.

She already holds the heaviest fish caught by a woman or junior member spot with a 26:12-pounder, and is in line to be a double winner for this year.

Miss Jenvey took over the leading coho spot her father held a couple of weeks back with a 16-pounder, until he was dumped by J. R. Smith with a 16:5-pound coho.

But, even with her big coho, Miss Jenvey probably won't qualify for a King Fisherman Coho Prince button. With big coho registered from Cowichan Bay and San Juan Bay it now looks like it will take a coho weighing considerably more than 17 pounds to win a button.

One Child Injured

Firecracker Furore

Firecrackers injured one child, Ricky Bryan, 7, of 1740 Taylor, who was treated for second and third degree burns to the back during the weekend. The injury was caused when a firecracker thrown by a 13-year-old boy came to rest under the child's shirt.

Investigation indicated the firecracker had been thrown into the air by the older boy and was blown down the back of the injured child's shirt by the wind.

NINE COMPLAINTS
He was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital and released.

The number of complaints of firecracker misuse varied among the Greater Victoria municipalities as sharply as do the by-laws controlling firecracker sales.

Nine weekend complaints were investigated by Victoria police. They included incidents of firecrackers being thrown at doorways, in halls of apartments at other children and at passing cars.

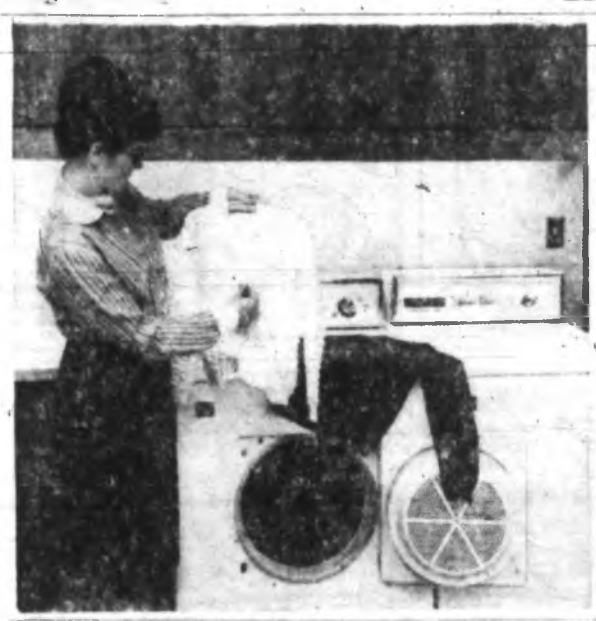

Turks Start Cyprus Rotation

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Canadian and Irish troops of the United Nations peace force and Australian police stood guard at the port of Famagusta Monday as 330 Turkish troops landed to relieve part of the Turkish army contingent on the island.

The Turkish contingent will be stationed in barracks near the Nicosia-Kyrenia road, the key 16-mile highway which loomed large in a month-long dispute over the rotation of Turkish troops on the island. Agreement on rotating the Turkish army contingent was reached last week.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new, healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppositories form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Hautzig's Performance Artistic Treat for City

By BERT HINNY

The Victoria Symphony orchestra scored a notable triumph and conferred an outstanding benefit on its audiences by securing the services of pianist Walter Hautzig.

Mr. Hautzig, a veteran of numerous appearances in 34 countries, played at the Royal Theatre Sunday afternoon and Monday evening.

Here, indeed, was an artistic treat.

While Mr. Hautzig's performance was clearly one of large artistic and technical dimension, it also displayed another feature not too commonly encountered.

It could be described as musical evangelism. The performance was so humanly sensitive that it could procure new devotees of such music in addition to thrilling those already of the faithful.

NO UNCERTAINTY

Following his brilliant performance of Beethoven's Emperor Concerto, the soloist was repeatedly recalled and provided a Chopin Nocturne as an encore.

There was never the slightest suggestion of uncertainty about Mr. Hautzig's playing; every note had its value recognized and duly accorded. Again, in the wider view, Mr. Hautzig provided passages which sang or danced or thrilled the listener. The third pair of concerts with compositions by Lalo, Verdi and Bizet take place Nov. 8 and 9 with cellist Ernst Friedlander as soloist. This program is also scheduled at Duncan on Nov. 6.

Landmark Renovated

Facelift of London's Trafalgar Square is under way as dead and dying trees along its perimeter are removed to make way for semi-mature trees which will be planted to replace them. Renovation will cost more than $20,000.—(AP)

Vancouver Festival

Canada, Germany Share Film Honors

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Canada and West Germany shared top honors in the three short-film categories in competition at the seventh Vancouver International Film Festival.

The results were announced Sunday night, at the closing ceremonies at Vancouver's Ridge Theatre.

The Education of Phyllistine, produced and directed by Philip Keatley of the Vancouver film unit of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was selected best short fictional film for its treatment of interracial tensions between whites and Indians in British Columbia.

West Germany's Bauhutte '63 received its statuette in the category of short non-fiction films. Director Wolf Hart was praised for his insight into the process of reconstruction. The judges were particularly impressed by the sparseness of the spoken commentary.

CERTIFICATES
The Chief, directed by Douglas Letterman for CBC Toronto, won top prize in the television film category for exploring the personality of a public figure. Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker.

Jorgen Roos' Shows Hamburg (West Germany), Les Bobbers' Toymakers (U.S.), Ron Kelly's Open Grave (Canada), John Feeney's Kenosha (Canada), and Peter Hopkinson's Today in Britain (Britain), were among other films that were presented certificates of merit.

The speaker, formerly of Poland, attended the University of Peking prior to joining the faculty at UBC.

Dr. Goldmark's address will be the first of five to be given in the association's 1964-65 program.

Friday's meeting and the Nov. 17 meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Paul Building, University of Victoria. Spring meetings will be held at Royal Roads.

Sweet Substitute

Student's Film Here

Two special showings of the film, Sweet Substitute, made by UBC student Larry Kent, will be held at the Fox Cinema next Sunday at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

The feature-length motion picture, shot in and around Vancouver last summer, stars Bob Howay, who attended Victoria College before heading for New York two years ago to gain acting experience.

The film, which deals with the sexual frustrations of the younger generation, is the second feature by Mr. Kent. His first effort, The Bitter Ash, was not passed for public showing by the censor.

Sweet Substitute, however, has been well reviewed in Vancouver and one critic compared it favorably with the National Film Board entry in the recent Vancouver International Festival, which had a similar theme.

Tickets will be sold in advance at $1 for the Sunday showings and may be picked up at the Fox Cinema box office or The Book Exchange, 1000 Fort Street.

Richter

As Mr. Richter's concerts right across Canada have been completely sold out, including three appearances in Montreal this past two weeks, he has arranged to stay a few days longer in the West in order to appear in Victoria next Wednesday! Of his last concert in Montreal, Jacob Siskind of the Montreal Star wrote: "The recital last night made one thing quite clear... there is no pianist alive quite like Sviatoslav Richter! It would be possible to write volumes on each of his performances!"

Big Change Ordered In Arrest Procedure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—District of Columbia Police Chief Robert Murray has ordered broad changes in morals case arrest procedures because of the circumstances surrounding the Walter W. Jenkins case.

Chief Murray announced Friday that henceforth all federal agencies, including the White House and Congress, will be notified, directly when one of their employees is arrested on such charges.

In a related development, Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon told President Johnson Friday night that apparently only one White House Secret Service official saw the FBI report on Jenkins' 1959 morals charge arrest and he did nothing about it.

The man involved was the head of the Secret Service's protective research section at the time, Mr. Dillon said. He did not identify the official nor say whether he still held the White House post. The secretary said the section had been reorganized. "This should eliminate the possibility of any repetition of this incident," he added.

Mr. Dillon was ordered by Johnson last week to find out why the Secret Service took no action on the FBI report when it issued Jenkins, formerly the Dangerous Driver 'Should Go to Jail'

Victoria magistrate William Oatler took a judicial swing Monday at what he described as "vehicular violence" and "unbelievable arrogance" displayed by two drivers before his court.

"You really should go to jail," he told Jack J. Marynaitch, 19, of 785 Gladstone, before imposing a $400 fine for dangerous driving and a further $25 fine for driving without a licence.

Marynaitch, who pleaded guilty to both charges, had been the object of a 70-mile-an-hour police chase from the Mayfair Shopping Centre area to an alley off Wharf Street.

Police say he almost lost control of the vehicle at least twice and failed to stop for two stop signs.

The youth said he had nothing to say about the incident, which ended with a 50-mile-an-hour flight and precipitous stop in the dead-end alley.

He told the court he had purchased the car a week ago.

The magistrate said there is an increasing public alarm at reckless and dangerous driving on Victoria streets.

A 23-year-old Victoria man was fined a total of $225 and forbidden to drive for six months as a result of four charges laid by Oak Bay police.

Lorne R. Smith, 913 Victoria Avenue, pleaded guilty on all four charges. He was fined $50 for careless driving; $100 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident; and $75 on two charges of driving without a licence.

The first two charges arose out of an accident Saturday on Carboro Bay Road, said police. Smith's eastbound car went out of control and struck two parked cars, causing a total of $500 damage.

Police said they were told by witnesses Smith got out of his car, looked at the damage and then left the scene. He had to push his damaged vehicle to get it started, added police.

Stopped later by police, Smith was found to have no driver's licence. He was stopped again Sunday driving his car, and the second count of driving without a licence was added to the charges.

"It was just a matter of returning home," Smith told Magistrate Oatler, to explain the second licence infraction.

"It is a matter of unbelievable arrogance, that is what it is," replied the magistrate.

A man with a record of six offences for which he served close to 16 months in jail since February, 1961, was sent to jail for three months on a shoplifting charge.

Charles Bland, Sr., of 224 Dallas Road, pleaded guilty to stealing a $15 wood plane from the T. Eaton Co. downtown store Saturday. But he told the court he thought the store detective, who arrested him as he left the store with the plane under his coat, should have prevented the theft.

Bland said he was drunk and should have been asked to leave the store.

He also asked the magistrate to restrict punishment to a fine rather than a jail term and added: "I didn't know what I was doing."

The magistrate interrupted recitation of Bland's previous convictions when the list reached back to 1961—then ordered the jail term.

A 21-year-old Victoria man was sent to jail for 10 days for driving while intoxicated, and fined $50 for possessing a spring-knife with a four-inch blade.

Leonard C. Nelson, 3273 Wicklow, had been arrested Saturday in a service station restroom where he lay on the floor "screaming and kicking at anyone who came near him," said police.

The arrest followed a 3 a.m. commotion when Nelson's companions refused to allow him to drive his car any farther court was told.

Police who asked the man how much he had had to drink said he replied: "Oh, gallons of it," both beer and hard liquor.

He protested to Magistrate Oatler that he did not own the knife and was unaware of how it got into his pocket, where it was found by police.

The magistrate told Nelson he was not charged with owning the knife but with being in possession of it. As to lack of awareness he had the knife, the magistrate added, "That is quite a comment on your condition, isn't it?"

A $350 fine was imposed against Gunnevald Heggelund, of 1966 Casa Marcia, for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The charge arose from a Sunday afternoon accident in which Mrs. Joan E. Bertram, 4366 Chartwell, received leg bruises.

Police said Mrs. Bertram told them Heggelund's car backed three times into the driver's door of her vehicle at about 3 p.m., catching her leg between the door and the frame and the door and the seat.

Police said Mrs. Bertram asked Heggelund to identify himself because of her injury and the damage to her car.

She told police the man did not reply but looked at her as if he was in a stupor, then drove away.

Police later found the Heggelund car in his garage at home, but the man was not at home, they said.

Magistrate Oatler agreed to request a probation report before deciding about a licence suspension. He was told Heggelund would be unable to work as a house builder without a car.

Longshoremen Resume Strike

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—More than 500 members of the Longshoremen's Protective Union (LNU) here voted unanimously Monday to resume the waterfront strike which tied up this port for 30 days in May and June.

Union President Norman Donovan said the men turned down proposals on gang rotation, severance pay and pensions as laid down in the industrial inquiry commission set up last June to study the waterfront dispute.

Two Bullets, Three Years

CHEMANUS—A 22-year-old Courtenay man who shot twice Oct. 18 at a car ahead of him on the Trans-Canada Highway was sentenced in magistrate's court Monday to three years in prison.

Stanley John Bullivant, found guilty of shooting a firearm with intent to endanger life, was told by Magistrate D. K. McAdam:

"To use a rifle in this way is simply incomprehensible. To fire at a car with three people at this speed is tantamount to culpable homicide."

TRIED TO PASS

Court was told Bullivant's panel truck tried to pass a car driven by Bob Palynchuk, 18, of Nanaimo, and containing passengers John Thomas of Nanaimo and Diane Owe of Wellington, also 18.

Palynchuk told the court he was driving at the limit of 60 miles an hour and went up to 80 when Bullivant tried to pass.

Testimony was that one bullet went through the left tail-light of Palynchuk's car, the trunk and back and front seats, damaging two skin-diving suits before splintering the dashboard. A second shot was fired later after the two drivers had had a conversation.

ARRESTED LATER

Bullivant was arrested later after both vehicles stopped at a service station 10 miles farther south and police were called.

Bullivant, conducting his own defence, said the car had been going 45, but he had to speed up to 100 when he tried to overtake.

He said "this sort of thing" had happened to him several times recently and "this seemed to me the last straw."

LIVES ENDANGERED

He said Palynchuk's manoeuvring "could have cost five or six lives" and added he had tried to shoot out one of the car's tires and had no intention of endangering any lives.

An unemployed mechanic, Bullivant said he had been "under a lot of pressure" since his release from Oakalla 18 months ago for a different offence.

Mill Town For Island

Gold River will become the commercial centre of the west coast of Vancouver Island with a population that will reach 5,000 within a few years, Premier Bennett said Monday.

The premier made this prediction after announcing the Tahsis Co. plans to establish a new $60,000,000 pulp mill there which should be in operation by 1967.

The mill will have a capacity of 750 tons daily, and initially will produce only pulp. Operations will be diversified later.

MODEL TOWN

Resources minister Williston said he welcomed the new operation because lumbering on the west coast of the Island had always suffered under great difficulties.

The Tahsis Co. now has a sawing operation, but most of the timber in the area is suitable only for pulp.

Premier Bennett said the new community will not be a company town, and promised it would be planned along "model town" lines. He said the population would grow rapidly to 2,500, and within a few years would reach 5,000.

HIGHWAY

He said a community of this size would have to be served by a public highway, and promised "steps would be taken to see there is a highway."

Gold River, now site of a Tahsis Co. camp on Muchalat Inlet, is reached by using private logging company roads during non-working hours. There is a daily bus service from Campbell River to connect with a ferry service from Gold River to Tahsis and Zestell.

The Tahsis Co. is to build the mill, the 10th new pulp mill announced in B.C. in recent months, under what the principals termed "an association" between East Asiatic Co. Ltd. and Canadian International Paper Co. of Montreal, largest in Canada.

EMPLOY 1,700

J. V. Christensen, president of East Asiatic and the Tahsis Co., said it is hoped construction will start by Feb. 1.

He said the mill would mean about 300 more men working in the woods and between 400 and 500 in the mill once operations begin. This would boost the number of Tahsis employees in the area to 1,700.

Mr. Bennett said the new town would be planned jointly by the company and the department of municipal affairs. He said the mill would provide an excellent tax base for the new community.

Tax Cut Hope Shaded By Gordon

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon cautioned MPs Monday about getting too enthusiastic over the prospect of early tax cuts.

He said his revenues were buoyant, but only mid-year figures are so far available and they reflect a change in the method and timing of tax collections. The real picture will be told in the year-end figures after next March 31.

But outside the House members of all parties were certain that tax cuts are in the offing—surely before voters next go to the polls and probably next spring.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has criticized increases in the tax rates imposed in the last two budgets, particularly the sales tax on building materials and production machinery which will become 11 per cent next Jan. 1.

Saanich Men In Crash

Saanich resident Rodrick McMillan, 32A Sims, was reported in satisfactory condition in Chemainus Hospital Monday night with a broken vertebrae suffered in an accident near Chemainus Sunday which wrecked the car he was driving.

Passenger Victor Ward, 32B Sims, owner of the car, escaped with shock.

C. G. Behnsen Dies

Island Naturalist Forever Outdoors

Today the youngest son of Christopher George Behnsen will walk through the Sooke Hills and around Shawnigan Lake scattering the ashes of his father.

Mr. Behnsen, one of Vancouver Island's best-known hunters and naturalists, died suddenly Saturday at 83.

home at Shawnigan Lake and through the Sooke Hills where he did most of his hunting.

Mr. Behnsen once told his son he wanted to die like an Indian in his beloved hills.

"I want to flop myself in there and never come up," he once told his family.

He was a hunter primarily, and is credited with killing more than 150 cougars in his lifetime. In later years he devoted all his time to being a naturalist. At his home it was not uncommon to see him feeding all types of wild animals from bears to hummingbirds.

Born in Oakland, Calif., his family moved to Victoria when he was a child. He was the son of H. F. W. Behnsen, owner of a cigar factory, who was later elected an M.L.A.

Mr. Behnsen took over management of the factory when his father entered politics in 1903. He later operated a trucking business but gave it up after a few years to become an outdoorsman. He lived most of his life at Shawnigan Lake, and it is said there were few men who knew the interior of Vancouver Island as well as he did.

A private funeral service is to be held today.

Night Doe Expensive

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Three privates from Work Point Barracks in Esquimalt pleaded guilty in magistrate's court Monday to two charges each.

Ernest J. Doucette, Gordon E. He and John K. R. Wither were fined $22 each for hunting at night and $30 each for possession of a doe out of season. Police said the three were checked at 3:40 a.m. Oct. 17 on the Rentfrew Road near here and the still-warm doe was found in the trunk of their car.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

Equality Among Red Nations

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union reassured its Communist junior partners Monday it intends to treat them as equals and not as underlings.

The government newspaper Izvestia published an editorial entitled Alliance of the Equal, while the new Kremlin leaders moved to calm East European jitter about Soviet policy after the fall of Nikita Khrushchev.

"New relations of comradeship and mutual assistance — based on the principles of equality, mutual respect of independence and sovereignty — have been shaped among the states of the (Soviet Camp) system," the front page editorial said.

FRIENDSHIP
"... The Soviet Communist Party considers it its sacred duty to further brotherly friendship with the socialist (Communist) nations and widen collaboration in all spheres of economic, social, political and cultural life," Izvestia said.

The editorial appeared atop a terse article on the meeting "the other day" near the Polish border of Poland's Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, and the men who took Khrushchev's power 12 days ago, Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

REASSURANCE
Diplomatic sources said the Gomulka meeting — apparently designed to ease any fears the Soviets might strike out for tougher-than-Khrushchev domination of the satellites now growing independent roots — was the first of any such "reassurance" conferences.

Indian Official Jailed

COURTENAY — John Auld Findlay, a superintendent with the Indian affairs department at Alert Bay for the past 10 years, was sentenced last Friday to nine months in jail, it was learned Monday.

Police said Findlay, who has been with the Indian affairs department for 25 years, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to several theft charges, one involving federal government property and the others involving Indian band funds.

Resignation, Some Relief Greet British Surcharge

OTTAWA (CP) — The imposition of British import surcharges, hitting about one-third of Canada's exports to Britain, have been accepted here with resignation and some relief.

Government officials were relieved to the fact that such a move was inevitable. They were relieved that it wasn't more drastic for Canada.

TEMPORARY

The 15-per-cent surcharge on manufactured and semi-manufactured goods is a temporary measure and will apply to imports from all countries. Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Monday that Prime Minister Wilson of Britain assured him that the surcharges "will be reduced as soon as the balance of payments situation per-

Sudan President Seizes All Power

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan seized dictatorial powers Monday night amidst bloody rioting and the threat of a general civilian insurrection.

Speaking over Sudan radio, the ruler of Africa's largest nation announced he had dissolved the 12-man cabinet and the 6-member military junta which had ruled since 1958.

The general said he was retaining "for the time being all constitutional powers to personally supervise the establishment of a situation that would please the people."

Eleven people were reported dead and more than 120 wounded in street riots with anti-American overtones which erupted Thursday in the Sudanese capital of Khartoum. Monday they spread to the cities of Omdurman, Kassala,

Abboud

Port Sudan, Obayad and Atbara.

Travelers arriving here from Khartoum said the U.S. information service library there had been attacked Saturday.

Rampaging students were quoted as saying, "we consider the United States in the cause of all our ills. Sudan looks today very much like an American colony."

GENERAL STRIKE

Abboud's resignation was flatly demanded by the National Democratic Front, which declared a general insurrection. It is composed of former political parties outlawed after Abboud seized power in a coup d'état Nov. 17, 1958.

"More dangerous steps" were threatened by the front unless the president met its demands. Khartoum was reported in the grip of a "largely successful" general strike by government workers, farmers, railway men and doctors not on emergency call.

Diplomatic reports said the riots were caused by government repression of a separatist movement in the predominantly Negro and Christian south of the country. The northern Sudan is predominantly Arab and Moslem.

January and August, Canada sold $792,000,000 worth of goods to Britain — about 15 per cent of this country's total exports in that period.

ADVISED BEFORE

Mr. Pearson was advised of the move before Mr. Wilson made the announcement in London Monday, but officials were still waiting for all the details before giving an accurate estimate of the effects.

In the meantime, said Trade Minister Sharp, it appears as though only about one-third of Canadian exports to Britain will be subject to the duty. This would include newspaper, but the minister said this was unlikely to affect total sales since they will still have to buy

'FILTH, GARBAGE, NONSENSE, NAZI'

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC came under fire in the Commons Monday over its controversial interview with a Nazi leader and for its programming policies in general.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker led the criticism during question period when he rapped the publicly-owned corporation for providing a forum for United States Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell on Sunday night's network show This Hour Has Seven Days.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) and H. A. Olson (SC — Medicine Hat) returned to the topic when an interim supply debate resumed and echoed Mr. Diefenbaker's call for a parliamentary committee to question CBC officials.

State Secretary Lamontagne, who reports to Parliament on broadcasting, once again turned down demands for a committee.

He said President Alphonse Ouimet had already appeared before the public accounts committee and "if in addition the CBC were asked to appear before a parliamentary committee this in my view might completely paralyze the corporation in its work, which would most certainly be undesirable."

'Cavalier Disregard'

Mr. Olson charged that the CBC showed a "cavalier disregard" for protests about programming and wondered why officials or the government were afraid of a committee.

There was sprinkled desk-thumping when he said the CBC had caused greater divisions between French- and English-Canadians by "repetitious attention" to extremist viewpoints.

During the question period the government was peppered with questions about three items in Sunday night's "Seven Days" show and Quebec provincial secretary Bona Arseneault's statement that Communists are infiltrating the CBC French network.

Mr. Lamontagne agreed to Mr. Diefenbaker's request that he ask the provincial secretary for the names of any Communists.

Prime Minister Pearson told Alvin Hamilton (PC — Qu'Appelle) that allegations made on the "Seven Days" show that a prisoner at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary near Montreal had been given a 14-year sentence for his part in a riot more than two years ago and had his mail stopped should be investigated.

Racism Set Back?

Deane Gundlock (PC — Lethbridge) said the CBC in some cases "almost flagrantly disregarded public opinion."

Stanley Knowles (NDP — Winnipeg North Centre) said someone should act as the devil's advocate and proceeded to praise the CBC for doing a good job generally. He said the Rockwell interview may well have set back the cause of racism and anti-Semitism rather than advancing it.

Gene Rheaume (PC — North-west Territories) said some persons believe the corporation was the "darling of the Liberal party" dedicated not only to spreading "pornography and perversion but also liberalism." He asked whether the doubling of President Ouimet's salary was an attempt to ensure the CBC would be dedicated to the task of keeping the Liberal party in power.

Mr. Rheaume criticized the CBC for planning a $80,000,000 office building in Montreal and a $45,000,000 building in Toronto while "hundreds and thousands of Canadians" were still unable to receive CBC television.

He was not convinced CBC personnel "should be allowed to batch perversion in air — conditioned comfort" while so many Canadians were out of reach of TV.

The "filth, garbage and nonsense" should end on the CBC and more money go into extending transmission facilities. He said many areas of the north could receive Moscow Radio more clearly than the CBC, and it provided a "good, impartial coverage" of Canadian news.

St. Vincent de Paul

'Despicable' Pen Must Disappear

MONTREAL (CP) — Justice Minister Guy Favreau said Monday night that "really despicable" conditions exist in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary but all prisoners will be transferred out of the maximum-security institution within two years.

"It is quite clear that St. Vincent de Paul must be demolished and disappear as quickly as possible as a maximum-security institution," he said.

Penitentiaries under construction at Cowansville, Que., and St. Anne des Plaines, Que., would replace the prison by December, 1966.

Mr. Favreau was addressing a three-hour tour of St. Vincent de Paul with Work Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets, Allen MacLeod, commissioner of penitentiaries, and about 50 reporters.

The justice minister also said he intends to ask the government to establish a parliamentary committee to "study prisons as detention units and the conditions that prevail in them."

'Misuse' of Network

Women Flay Air 'Minority'

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is under fire in a strongly worded petition signed by prominent women who claim the CBC is spreading immoral propaganda.

The Declaration by Canadian Women, circulated among women's and church groups and door-to-door in some communities, aims "to end the domination of a minority who misuse the CBC to spread propaganda for perversion, pornography, free love, blasphemy, dope, violence and crime."

A CBC spokesman said Monday that the corporation is "concerned about the extreme and negative reaction by this 'group,' but adds that no women's organization in Canada has endorsed the declaration.

The secretary of the movement attacking the Crown-owned corporation is Miss Ethel Gordon, chief supervisor of nursing counselling in the food division of the department of national health and welfare in Ottawa.

Signers include Senator Josée D. Quart of Quebec City; Ethel Wilson, minister without portfolio in the Alberta cabinet; Mrs. A. D. Keith of Winnipeg, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Canada; Clara T. Casselman, former MP for Edmonton East; Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton, Ont., former Canadian delegate to the United Nations and a former CBC director; Mrs. Ward Markle of Toronto, president of the Ontario section of the Catholic Women's League, and Mrs. G. C. V. Hewson of Toronto, president of the Ontario division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The declaration calls on Parliament to make the CBC "answerable to the Canadian people," but says it opposes censorship.

Bones, Rusted Rifle May Solve Murder

ALEXIS CREEK, B.C. (CP) — A tangle of human bones and the rusted remains of a rifle, found in a wooded valley near this Chiloquin town, may solve the murder of a man who disappeared 32 years.

The remains are believed those of Harry Seymour, an Indian who vanished after the gun-slaying of Mrs. Johnny Baptiste in the winter of 1932.

They have been brought back here and will be sent to the RCMP crime laboratory in Vancouver.

BULLET IN SKULL

There is a bullet hole through the skull.

Forestry worker Edward Quill, who knew Seymour in 1932, stumbled across the bones and the gun about two weeks ago in Elkin Valley, some 30 miles west of Williams Lake and about 150 miles southeast of Prince George, B.C.

He identified the rusted rifle as an old single-shot .22-calibre weapon Seymour was known to have owned.

An RCMP spokesman here said Monday:

RECALLS SLAYING
"We're pretty sure it's a case of murder and suicide."

Bill Boughton, a game warden in the area at the time of the slaying and later a member of the British Columbia Provincial Police, said in an interview at Williams Lake:

"All we knew for sure is that there was a big drinking party going on when the woman was shot and killed."

BODY BROUGHT OUT
"An Indian named Buffalo Johnny Hance reported the killing at Hanceville."

Boughton joined the police investigating team which went to the scene of the slaying.

U.S. Consul Held in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE. The Congo (UPI)—The American consul in rebel-held Stanleyville and four members of his staff are under house arrest. Radio Stanleyville said Monday.

The broadcast, monitored here, said all other foreigners in the provincial capital are free and in good health.

The American consul, Michael Hoyt, and his four employees are safe, the radio said. The Americans apparently were held for possible reprisals for government air attacks against rebel positions.

Communist-backed insurgents over-ran Stanleyville, capital of Orientale province, last Aug. 5. It is the capital of the so-called "People's Republic of The Congo."

Reports reaching here Monday said six Europeans, including two Belgian clergymen, were killed at Boende during eight weeks of rebel occupation.

Government troops recaptured Boende last Saturday after South African mercenary pilots attacked it with machine-gun and rocket fire.

Boende, 475 miles northeast of Leopoldville, is one of the principal outposts between Leopoldville and Stanleyville.

New York Ovation

Goldwater Raps LBJ 'Daddyism'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Barry Goldwater Monday night accused President Johnson of "political daddyism" after receiving the wildest ovation of his campaign for the presidency.

For 28 minutes more than 18,000 persons packed into Madison Square Garden cheered Goldwater.

The throng gave the Arizona senator a reception that had all the trimmings of a nominating convention.

Goldwater is understood to have felt in the past that his chances of capturing New York's big bloc of electoral votes are scant.

"Daddyism" the philosophy of taking care of everything for everybody, is the easy way to pitch for votes, he claimed.

But that's not for him, Goldwater said.

"Do you honestly think that after all these years in politics, that I don't know the easy way to get votes?" he asked.

"Well, I do."

But he said he wouldn't because "if I went around telling people what they wanted to hear, I'd sound like Lyndon Baines Johnson."

Goldwater brought his election campaign to the biggest city of the U.S. for his first and only try at its votes with a political rally.

Johnson Flails GOP Over War Risks

MACON, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson flailed away Monday at his Republican opponents, accusing them of "wild and impulsive statements" and "the most radical proposals ever made to the American people."

In a speech in Jacksonville, Fla., Johnson said the Republican party "has fallen into the hands of an extreme and narrow group."

"They would tear down the past and take unnecessary risks of war," Johnson added.

In election campaign speeches in Orlando, and Jacksonville, Fla., and in Augusta and Macon, Ga., Johnson hammered hard on the themes of peace, prosperity and national unity.

He said prosperity and the peace of the world are at stake in the U.S. presidential election Nov. 3.

Shipments Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—Shipments by Canadian manufacturers in August decreased in value by 13 per cent to an estimated $2,471,800,000 from the revised July estimate of $2,804,100,000, the bureau of statistics reported.

During Spanish Exercise

Nine U.S. Marines Killed

HUELVA, Spain (UPI)—Nine U.S. marines were killed and 13 others injured Monday when two U.S. Navy helicopters collided at the start of amphibious manoeuvres involving 50,000 U.S. and Spanish troops.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the helicopters, which had been flying at an altitude of 800 feet, crashed into each other as they were coming in for a landing.

One caught fire and burned. The other was demolished but did not catch fire.

BIGGEST IN PEACETIME. The collision came about two hours after the first landings of Operation Steel Pike One, described as the biggest amphibious operation ever staged in peacetime.

The crash started a fire in a woods near this southwestern Spanish port city. It was quickly brought under control.

Earlier another accident threatened to mar the manoeuvre. An observers' grandstand with about 25 persons on it collapsed just as Sen. Richard B. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, was climbing the grandstand steps. No one was injured.

U.S. WARSHIPS

The helicopter crash took place about six miles from the grandstand where about 300 correspondents and official observers were watching the manoeuvres.

Exercise Steel Pike One took 10 months of planning. It involves 80 U.S. and 14 Spanish warships.

Spaniards wrapped in blankets sat on their doorsteps in the chill dawn about 200 yards from the shoreline, watching the combat-ready marines storm ashore and scurry through their front yards.

Paper Employees Must Quit Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Tremblay said in the Commons Monday that his department is asking seven Americans now working for the three Toronto daily newspapers to leave Canada immediately.

He did not identify the seven employees, saying only his department decided against granting them landed immigrant status in light of the continuing printers' strike against the three papers.

Mr. Tremblay, replying to a question asked last week by Reid Scott (NDP-Toronto-Danforth) said the seven men will be deported to the United States if they refuse to leave Canada voluntarily.

There have been questions raised in the Commons previously about strikebreaking.

Two on Collision Course

Rhodesian Independence Clash Ahead

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—As the dispute between Britain and Rhodesia over independence for the white-ruled colony moves into its most critical phase yet, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith seem set on a collision course.

Wilson, if he chooses, could wield some powerful weapons to dissuade the Rhodesian government from seizing independence as it may think it is entitled to do when it has received its mandate from the rural Africans and the Rhodesian voters.

Among actions Britain could take, though nothing has yet been officially decided, are tough economic sanctions in Rhodesia, recognizing an African government-in-exile and freezing Rhodesian assets in the City of London.

At present the word in Whitehall is Lord Asquith's famous phrase—"wait and see."

COUNTER-SNUB

After a weekend of snub and counter-snob by the two governments, Smith agreed to meet Wilson to wrestle some solution from the deadlock. He chose, however, to defer the encounter until after the Nov. 5 referendum, which he confidently expects will give him the green light for independence on his terms.

The Wilson government is firmly opposed to independence on the present constitution, which theoretically provides for an African majority in 10 or 20 years but in practice entrenches white minority rule for many years ahead.

The new British prime minister lost no time in publicly stating Smith's plan to tap African opinion through the government - paid tribal chiefs would not be regarded as representative of the Negro majority.

The nationalists and most urban Africans—other than the small minority qualified to vote in the Nov. 5 referendum—have been excluded from Smith's consultations on independence.

Now the chiefs, predictably, have said "yes." The overwhelmingly white electorate of Rhodesia will undoubtedly return the same verdict Nov. 5. With each day that passes, the threat of a unilateral declaration of independence—"udi" as the white Rhodesians dub it—grows more menacing. The sacking of Rhodesia's 50-year-old army chief, Maj.-Gen. John Anderson, on the pretext of age was seen here as an obvious bid to weed out loyalist opposition to a possible coup.

ALREADY PLANNING

It could be seen as a plain indication Smith feels the possibility of a negotiated independence now is remote with a socialist government in Britain, and that he is already planning for unilateral action.

The suddenly urgent possibility of a unilateral declaration comes barely a month after Premier Smith had publicly backed away from it in favor of negotiations after his mid-September talks with then Premier Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Gold River Plan Drawn on Pulp

Gold River will become the commercial centre of the west coast of Vancouver Island with a population that will reach 5,000 within a few years, Premier Bennett said Monday.

The premier made this prediction after announcing the Tahsis Co. plans to establish a new $60,000,000 pulp mill there which should be in operation by 1967.

The mill will have a capacity of 750 tons daily, and initially will produce only pulp. Operations will be diversified later.

MODEL TOWN

Resources minister Williston said he welcomed the new operation because lumbering on the west coast of the Island had always suffered under great difficulties.

The Tahsis Co. now has a sawlog operation, but most of the timber in the area is suitable only for pulp.

Premier Bennett said the new community will not be a company town, and promised it would be planned along "model town" lines. He said the population would grow rapidly to 5,500, and within a few years would reach 5,000.

HIGHWAY

He said a community of this size would have to be served by a public highway, and promised "steps would be taken to see there is a highway."

Gold River, now site of a Tahsis Co. camp on Muchalat Inlet, is reached by using private logging company roads during non-working hours. There is a daily bus service from Campbell River to connect with a ferry service from Gold River to Tahsis and Zesliao.

The Tahsis Co. is to build the mill, the 10th new pulp mill announced in B.C. in recent months, under what the principals termed "an association" between East Asiatic Co. Ltd. and Canadian International Paper Co. of Montreal, largest in Canada.

EMPLOY 1,700

J. V. Christensen, president of East Asiatic and the Tahsis Co. said it is hoped construction will start by Feb. 1.

He said the mill would mean about 300 more men working in the woods and between 400 and 500 in the mill once operations begin. This would boost the number of Tahsis employees in the area to 1,700.

Mr. Bennett said the new town would be planned jointly by the company and the department of municipal affairs. He said the mill would provide an excellent tax base for the new community.

NANAIMO—A Duncan magistrate's court decision of last August was overruled Monday in Supreme Court here by Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutchison, who ordered the case returned to the Duncan court.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Two people were brought to hospital here from Quadra Island early Sunday by the RCMP boat Masett after an accident, because the Quadra Island ferry was not in service at the time.

Keith Johnson, 19, suffered arm lacerations when he lost control of a half-ton pickup, which left the highway and broke a telephone pole about three miles north of Quathilish Cove.

Passenger June Peters suffered undetermined injuries and is resting comfortably in hospital. Other passengers Gerry Johnson and Pat Wilson were not injured.

Access Road Needed

PORT ALBERNI—The Gold River pulp mill and town were praised Monday by Alberni MLA John Squire, but he added that another problem remains in the area.

The NDP member said the Tahsis Co. has a "prior obligation" to the 1,600 to 1,800 people in Tahsis to give them access to the Campbell River-Courtenay area.

Mr. Squire said the people in the sawmill town of Tahsis have petitioned "continually" for a 10 to 12-mile connection of their road with logging roads which would complete the access.

He said the matter had been a problem in all his 12 years as an MLA.

Mr. Squire said the access road would give the small industry and similar development.

It would also help Zeballos and mean "a great future" for Campbell River.

Ferry Service Tenders Called Soon for Lasqueti

Tenders will be called in the near future for better ferry service between Vancouver Island and Lasqueti Island, whose old vessel Jehu III sank near French Creek last week.

Deputy provincial highways minister H. T. Maird made this promise here Monday to a delegation of residents of Lasqueti Island, 10 miles north of French Creek.

The 28-foot ferry sank after hitting a deadhead last Wednesday, and the 153 residents have not had service since.

EMERGENCY SERVICE

The provincial government will provide emergency service by Wednesday with a 55-foot ferry owned by Capt. Bert Davis of Nanaimo.

It is expected the regular service will be provided by the same

Explosion Feared

NANAIMO—Traffic was tied up for almost an hour and a fire truck stood by in case of an explosion after a semi-trailer gas tanker and a car collided at Terminal and Stewart Monday afternoon. No one was hurt but the car, driven by T. A. Skingle of Ross Road, was damaged extensively. The loaded tanker, driven by R. J. Morgan of 180 Wakeham, received slight damage.

Backs To The Sea

Anglers have been having a whale of a time catching big coho from bridge crossing Koksilah River on Tsohuahen Road near Duncan. Below bridge is tidal water, and anglers may take four coho salmon without fishing licence. Above bridge is non-tidal water, and fishing licence is required, with two-salmon limit. Fish must be taken on lure and jigging is forbidden. (Alice Merriman).

Nanaimo Girl Injured

Fireworks Ban Considered

NANAIMO—"The time is coming when we may have to consider a ban on firecrackers," Ald. Douglas Greer said Monday night.

He spoke when several council members were interviewed after a short city council meeting.

and after a weekend which saw a nine-year-old Nanaimo girl receive serious neck burns from a firecracker.

Both Mayor Pete Maffeo and Ald. George Bryce urged parents to supervise youngsters when the latter are playing with firecrackers.

FIREBOMBS

The mayor said he favored the "privilege" of firecrackers but not firebombs. Sharlene McLaughlin, 140 Irwin, was playing Sunday in Haliburton Street Park when a firecracker thrown by an unidentified youth caught in the neck of her sweater and exploded.

A nurse living across the street from the park gave the girl emergency treatment at the scene before Sharlene was taken to hospital. She was released later in the day.

NO BAN

Police also warned youngsters to take care when exploding firecrackers.

Nanaimo is one of the few Island centres without a bylaw banning sale of fireworks to children. The only restriction is that sales can take place only between Oct. 24 and Nov. 5. During the city council meeting.

Naturalist Dies Suddenly

Forever Outdoors

Today the youngest son of Christopher George Behnson will walk through the Sooke Hills and around Shawnigan Lake scattering the ashes of his father.

Mr. Behnson, one of Vancouver Island's best-known hunters and naturalists, died suddenly Saturday at 83.

Son Ronald of Victoria said Monday it was one of his father's last requests that his ashes be strewn around his home at Shawnigan Lake and through the Sooke Hills where he did most of his hunting. Mr. Behnson once told his son he wanted to die like an Indian in his beloved hills.

"I want to flop myself in there and never come up," he once told his family.

He was a hunter primarily, and is credited with killing more than 150 cougars in his lifetime. In later years he devoted all his time to being a naturalist. At his home it was not uncommon to see him feed ing all types of wild animals from bears to hummingbirds.

Born in Oakland, Calif., his family moved to Victoria when he was a child. He was the son of H. F. W. Behnson, owner of a cigar factory, who was later elected an MLA.

OUTDOORSMAN

Mr. Behnson took over management of the factory when his father entered politics in 1903. He later operated a trucking business but gave it up after a few years to become an outdoorsman. He lived most of his life at Shawnigan Lake, and it is said there were few men who knew the interior of Vancouver Island as well as he did.

A private funeral service is to be held today.

Accidents Injure Three

DUNCAN—A Duncan boy was taken to hospital in Victoria and two other people remain in hospital after three separate weekend traffic accidents.

Murray Braitwaite, 13, son of Mrs. L. Drape of Duncan, is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with head injuries and a double fracture of one leg.

Police said he rode his bicycle from a driveway on Gibbins Road near Menzies Creek into the path of a car driven by Windsor D. Prangley of Duncan.

Roderick MacMillan of 83-A Sims, Saanich, is in satisfactory condition in hospital at Chemainus with a broken vertebra after the car he was driving rolled over on the highway near Chemainus.

Passenger Victor Ward of 83-B Sims, Saanich, owner of the car, escaped with shock. The car was wrecked.

Kenneth Vincent Thomas of Westholme is in satisfactory condition with a broken ankle received when his car was in an accident on the highway near Chemainus River Bridge.

Alberni Navy League Wins

PORT ALBERNI—The Alberni Valley branch of the Navy League of Canada has been given the league's national membership trophy.

The trophy was presented by Island league official Denis

Brown to Philip Green at the branch's annual Trafalgar Day ball. It is awarded annually to the branch with the largest membership in proportion to the number of sea cadets and wrennettes in corps supported by the league.

A certificate recognizing his services to the league was given to Mayor Les Hammer, former longtime commander of the sea cadet corps here and now vice-president of the Island navy league.

'Culpable Homicide'

Rifle-Shooting Driver Jailed Three Years

CHEMAINUS — A 22-year-old Courtenay man who shot twice Oct. 18 at a car ahead of him on the Trans-Canada Highway was sentenced in magistrate's court Monday to three years in prison.

Stanley John Bullivant, found guilty of shooting a firearm with intent to endanger life, was told by Magistrate D. K. McAdam:

"To use a rifle in this way is simply incomprehensible. To fire at a car with three people at this speed is tantamount to culpable homicide."

TRIED TO PASS

Court was told Bullivant's panel truck tried to pass a car driven by Bob Palynchuk, 18, of Nanaimo, and containing passengers John Thomas of Nanaimo and Diane Osei of Wellington, also 18.

Palynchuk told the court he was driving at the limit of 60 miles an hour and went up to 80 when Bullivant tried to pass.

Testimony was that one bullet went through the left tail-light of Palynchuk's car, the trunk and back and front seats, damaging two skin-diving suits before splintering the dashboard. A second shot was fired later after the two drivers had had a conversation.

ARRESTED LATER

Bullivant was arrested later after both vehicles stopped at a service station 10 miles farther south and police were called.

Bullivant, conducting his own defence, said the car had been going 45, but he had to speed up to 100 when he tried to overtake.

He said "this sort of thing" had happened to him several times recently and "this seemed to me the last straw."

LIVES ENDANGERED

He said Palynchuk's manoeuvring "could have cost five or six lives" and added he had tried to shoot out one of the car's tires and had no intention of endangering any lives.

An unemployed mechanic, Bullivant said he had been "under a lot of pressure" since his release from Okalla 18 months ago for a different offence.

Emergency Number

Phone Confusion Delays Firemen

NORTH COWICHAN — Confusion over the emergency telephone number of the fire department prevented quick action Saturday against a Gibbins Road fire, it was learned Monday.

The five-room bungalow of Mrs. Marion Hankins and her three young sons was almost destroyed before the arrival of the 17-man Southland volunteer fire department.

GOT BOYS OUT Mrs. Hankins was awakened by the smell of smoke, got her boys out to safety and tried to phone the fire department from a neighbor's home.

In the confusion, no one could remember the emergency number. Some time passed before an alarm was finally turned in.

FAULTY WIRING Fire Chief Pat Clackson said the house, across from Gibbins Road Elementary School, was insured and some of the furniture can be repaired. Nothing was removed from the house and damage is estimated at $3,000.

The chief said the fire was caused by faulty wiring in a wall between the kitchen and one of the bedrooms.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75 has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

POLICE SEIZE $4,000 IN GOODS AS TWO JUVENILES ARRESTED

A routine investigation by a city policeman Monday led to the recovery of close to $4,000 in stolen property — including two motorcycles — and resulted in the arrest of two 15-year-old youths.

Police were cataloguing the property early Tuesday and continuing the investigation.

IN COURT TODAY

The youths are to appear in juvenile court today charged with theft under and over $50 and breaking and entering.

Police said some of the articles were stolen as long as a month ago.

A tool kit and electric drill taken from the tool shed at Kivwanis Senior Citizens' Village were among the items identified.

HOUSES SEARCHED

After doing some checking the policeman called in city juvenile officer Thomas Smith. Permission was obtained to search a city home where some of the property was recovered, including two motorcycles. Other stolen property was recovered when a second house was searched.

Two Saanich youth detail officers, Harry Adams and Bill Stephenson, were called in when it was learned some of the property was taken from the Saanich area.

A police spokesman said early today the list of the recovered property was not yet complete.

Sudan President Seizes All Power

KHARTOUM (UPI) — President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan seized dictatorial powers Monday night amidst bloody rioting and the threat of a general civilian insurrection.

Speaking over Sudan radio, the ruler of Africa's largest nation announced he had dissolved the 17-man cabinet and the 6-member military junta which had ruled since 1958.

The general said he was retaining "for the time being all constitutional powers to personally supervise the establishment of a situation that would please the people."

Eleven people were reported dead and more than 120 wounded in street riots with anti-American overtones which erupted Thursday in the Sudanese capital of Khartoum. Monday they spread to the cities of Omdurman, Kassala,

Abboud

Port Sudan, Obayad and Atbara.

Travelers arriving here from Khartoum said the U.S. information service library there had been attacked Saturday.

Rampaging students were quoted as saying, "we consider the United States is the cause of all our ills. Sudan looks today very much like an American colony."

GENERAL STRIKE

Abboud's resignation was flatly demanded by the National Democratic Front, which declared a general insurrection. It is composed of former political parties outlawed after Abboud seized power in a coup d'etat Nov. 17, 1958.

"More dangerous steps" were threatened by the front unless the president met its demands. Khartoum was reported in the grip of a "largely successful" general strike by government workers, farmers, railway men and doctors not on emergency call.

Diplomatic reports said the riots were caused by government repression of a separatist movement in the predominantly Negro and Christian south of the country. The northern Sudan is predominantly Arab and Moslem.

Resignation, Some Relief Greet British Surcharge

OTTAWA (CP)—The imposition of British import surcharges, hitting about one-third of Canada's exports to Britain, have been accepted here with resignation and some relief.

Government officials were resigned to the fact that such a move was inevitable. They were relieved that it wasn't more drastic for Canada.

TEMPORARY

The 15-per-cent surcharge on manufactured and semi-manufactured goods is a temporary measure and will apply to imports from all countries. Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Monday that Prime Minister Wilson of Britain assured him that the surcharges "will be reduced as soon as the balance of payments situation permits and abolished at the earliest opportunity."

He said outside the House "Canada is very fortunate" about two-thirds of its exports to Britain will escape the new duties. This is because food and raw materials are exempt.

Some trade officials here had expressed earlier fears that Canadian goods might be subject to greater restrictions than others because of Britain's imbalance of trade with Canada. Britain has been making concerted efforts to correct this.

In the first half of this year, trade was running about 2 to 1 in Canada's favor. Between January and August, Canada sold $792,000,000 worth of goods to Britain—about 15 per cent of this country's total exports in that period.

ADVISED BEFORE

Mr. Pearson was advised of the move before Mr. Wilson made the announcement in London Monday, but officials were still waiting for all the details before giving an accurate estimate of the effects.

In the meantime, said Trade Minister Sharp, it appears as though only about one-third of Canadian exports to Britain will be subject to the duty. This would include newsprint, but the minister said this was unlikely to affect total sales since "they will still have to buy

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker led the criticism during question period when he rapped the publicly-owned corporation for providing a forum for United States Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell on Sunday night's network show This Hour Has Seven Days.

Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) and H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) returned to the topic when an interim supply debate resumed and echoed Mr. Diefenbaker's call for a parliamentary committee to question CBC officials.

State Secretary Lamontagne, who reports to Parliament on broadcasting, once again turned down demands for a committee.

He said President Alphonse Ouimet had already appeared before the public accounts committee and "if in addition the CBC were asked to appear before a parliamentary committee this in my view might completely paralyze the corporation in its work, which would most certainly be undesirable."

'Cavalier Disregard'

Mr. Olson charged that the CBC showed a "cavalier disregard" for protests about programming and wondered why officials or the government were afraid of a committee.

There was sprinkled despatching when he said the CBC had caused greater divisions between French- and English-Canadians by "repetitious attention" to extremist viewpoints.

During the question period the government was peppered with questions about three items in Sunday night's "Seven Days" show and Quebec provincial secretary Bona Arseneault's statement that Communists are infiltrating the CBC French network.

Mr. Lamontagne agreed to Mr. Diefenbaker's request that he ask the provincial secretary for the names of any Communists.

Prime Minister Pearson told Alvin Hamilton (PC—Quebec) that allegations made on the "Seven Days" show that a prisoner at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary near Montreal had been given a 14-year sentence for his part in a riot more than two years ago and had his mail stopped should be investigated.

Racism Set Back?

Deane Gundlock (PC—Lethbridge) said the CBC in some cases "almost flagrantly disregarded public opinion."

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said someone should act as the devil's advocate and proceeded to praise the CBC for doing a good job generally. He said the Rockwell interview may well have set back the cause of racism and anti-semitism rather than advancing it.

Gene Rheume (PC—Northwest Territories) said some persons believe the corporation was the "darling of the Liberal party" dedicated not only to spreading "pornography and perversion but also liberalism." He asked whether the doubling of President Ouimet's salary was an attempt to ensure the CBC would be dedicated to the task of keeping the Liberal party in power.

Mr. Rheume criticized the CBC for planning a $60,000 office building in Montreal and a $45,000 building in Toronto while "hundreds and thousands of Canadians" were still unable to receive CBC television. He was not convinced CBC personnel "should be allowed to hatch perversions in air-conditioned comfort" while so many Canadians were out of reach of TV.

The "filth, garbage and nonsense" should end on the CBC and more money go into extending transmission facilities. He said many areas of the north could receive Moscow Radio more clearly than the CBC, and it provided a "good, impartial coverage" of Canadian news.

'Despicable' Pen Must Disappear

MONTREAL (CP)—Justice Minister Guy Favreau said Monday night that "really despicable" conditions exist in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary but all prisoners will be transferred out of the maximum-security institution within two years.

"It is quite clear that St. Vincent de Paul must be demolished and disappear as quickly as possible as a maximum-security institution," he said.

U.S. Prisoners

Stage Sit-Down

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—Nearly 500 prisoners staged a sit-down strike Monday at the Maryland house of correction where many of the same prisoners rioted Friday night.

Vernon L. Papersack, the state commissioner of correction, said the prisoners sat down after charging a guard with brutality.

Ships Collide In Thames Fog

LONDON (Reuters)—Fifty-six crewmen of the East German ship Magdeburg were taken off their sinking vessel after a collision early Monday with a Japanese freighter in the Thames Estuary in thick fog. The Japanese vessel, the Yamashiro Maru, was badly damaged but was able to anchor at Gravesend.

BULLET IN SKULL

There is a bullet hole through the skull.

Forestry worker Edward Quill, who knew Seymour in 1932, stumbled across the bones and the gun about two weeks ago in Elgin Valley, some 50 miles west of Williams Lake and about 150 miles southeast of Prince George, B.C.

He identified the rusted rifle as an old single-shot 22-calibre weapon Seymour was known to have owned.

RECALLS SLAYING

"We're pretty sure it's a case of murder and suicide," Bill Boughton, a game warden in the area at the time of the slaying and later a member of the British Columbia Provincial Police, said in an interview at Williams Lake.

"All we knew for sure is that there was a big drinking party going on when the woman was shot and killed."

'Misuse' of Network

Women Flay Air 'Minority'

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is under fire in a strongly worded petition signed by prominent women who claim the CBC is spreading immoral propaganda.

The Declaration by Canadian Women, circulated among women's and church groups and door-to-door in some communities, aims "to end the domination of a minority who misuse the CBC to spread propaganda for perversion, pornography, free love, blasphemy, dope, violence and crime."

A CBC spokesman said Monday that the corporation is "concerned about the extreme and negative reaction by this 'group,'" but adds that no women's organization in Canada has endorsed the declaration.

The secretary of the movement attacking the Crown-owned corporation is Miss Ethel Gordon, chief supervisor of nursing consultants in the food division of the department of national health and welfare in Ottawa.

Signers include Senator Josée D. Quart of Quebec City; Ethel Wilson, minister without portfolio in the Alberta cabinet; Mrs. A. D. Keith of Winnipeg, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Canada; Cora T. Casselman, former MP for Edmonton East; Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton, Ont., former Canadian delegate to the United Nations and a former CBC director; Mrs. Ward Markle of Toronto, president of the Ontario section of the Catholic Women's League, and Mrs. G. C. V. Hewson of Toronto, president of the Ontario division of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The declaration calls on Parliament to make the CBC "answerable to the Canadian people," but says it opposes censorship.

Bones, Rusted Rifle May Solve Murder

ALEXIS CREEK, B.C. (CP)—A tangle of human bones and the rusted remains of a rifle, found in a wooded valley near this Chilcotin cowtown, may solve a murder unsolved for 32 years.

The remains are believed to be of Harry Seymour, an Indian who vanished after the gun-slaying of Mrs. Johnny Baptiste in the winter of 1932.

They have been brought back here and will be sent to the RCMP crime laboratory in Vancouver.

"We went in by dogteam and brought out the body of Mrs. Baptiste. The inquest found nothing conclusive. We got reports from various persons, but nobody seemed to remember anything about the incident except Buffalo Johnny."
